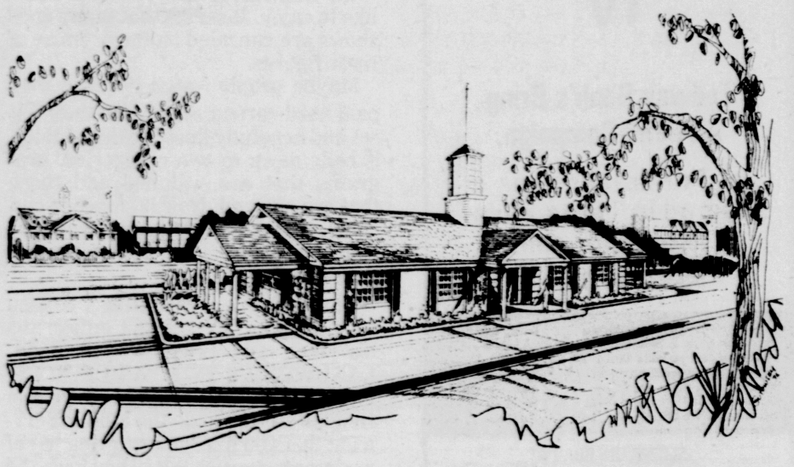
Spring start predicted on new railway station



A VIEW FROM THE SOUTH of the new commuter railway station to be built in downtown Arlington Heights. Village officials expect construction of the $180,000 project to begin in the spring. The building was designed by Hundrieser, Gutowsky and Associates, Arlington Heights.

A spring construction start is predicted for the new commuter railway station in downtown Arlington Heights.

Village Mgr. L.A. Hanson met Tuesday morning with representatives of the Chicago anl North Western Ry. to complete changes in plans for the building. The plans will be submitted within 10 days to the Illinois Dept. of Transportation for final approval, Hanson said.

The bidding process for the project should start in January, he said.

Cost estimates for the new station are $180,000. It will be funded through a transportation department grant received by the railway company.

It will be located on the site of the present station, north of the railway tracks, between Dunton and Evergreen avenues.

Once plans for the new station are approved by the transportation department, the western portion of the station will be used as a ticket office and waiting room while the new station is built, Hanson said.

The colonial-style station will feature two waiting rooms with the main waiting room open only during hours when the station's ticket agents are on duty. A smaller waiting room will be open at all times but will be completely visible from three sides to reduce the chances of vandalism.

Village to condemn lumber yard

Condemnation proceedings to acquire the site of the Hill-Behan Lumber Co. for a commuter parking lot will be initiated by the Village of Arlington Heights.

The village board approved the action Monday night.

The village has attempted to acquire the lanl since 1971, but lumber company officials rejected village offers.

The value of the land will be decided by the courts with the condemnation proceedings expected to take at least one month.

The construction of the 165-space parking lot will be delayed further while the lumber company searches for a new site.

State and federal agencies have agreed to finance about 85 per cent of the $750,000 project, which includes acquiring the land, moving expenses for the lumber company and construction of the parking lot.

High pay common to officials

by KURT BAER

"The buck stops here," Harry Truman was fond of saying. But how many bucks and for whom?

The problem of how much to pay government workers has reverberated from village halls to the halls of Congress in recent weeks.

Governor-elect James R. Thompson says he will push for pay increases for top state officials even if the Illinois General Assembly continues to balk at higher salaries.

WITH A YEARLY salary of $50,000, Thompson will be the third highest-paid governor in the nation when he takes office Jan. 10. But a spot check of other public officials' salaries in the Northwest suburbs and metropolitan Chicago shows that near comparable pay checks are being passed out to school administrators, village managers and law enforcers.

Harper Community College Pres. Robert Lahti, for example, now takes home $54,000 a year. Other top-dollar area school administrators include High School Dist. 211 Supt. Richard Kolze at $48,000 and Arlington Heights Dist. 25 Supt. Donald V. Strong at $43,000.

"I don't know what responsibilities the governor is faced with. I assume they're of a large magnitude," said Kolze when asked about the comparability of his salary and the Illinois governor's.

"I don't know what a senator or a legislator makes. I don't even know how much the President makes," Kolze said. "Salary isn't something I worry about."

Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 Supt. Wayne Schaible, whose salary is $40,000, said he does not object to paying a good salary to someone who has a lot of responsibility.

"A person who's doing a job well should be paid well for the job," Schaible said. "$50,000 sounds like enough, but I've never sat in the governor's chair."

SALARIES OF other Northwest suburban elementary school superintendents are Palatine Township Dist. 15, Frank Whiteley, $40,425; Prospect Heights Dist. 23, Edward Grodsky, $32,388; River Trails Dist. 26, John Fridlund, $33,000; Mount Prospect Dist. 57, Earl Sutter, $37,500; Wheeling Township Dist. 21, Kenneth Gill, $40,090.

Others are Elk Grove Township Dist. 59, Roger Bardwell, $39,000; Des Plaines Dist. 62, Eric Sahlberg,

Person-to-person flu link sought in Wisconsin

ATLANTA (UPI) — Federal health officials said Tuesday a check was being made to determine whether there is any evidence of person-to-person transmission of swine flu in the Brodhead, Wis., area, where one case already has occurred.

Dr. Donald Millar, coordinator of the national swine influenza immunization program at the national Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, said that if evidence is found of person-to-person transmission of the disease in the Brodhead area "we may be starting to see the first seeding of swine flu."

The so-called "seeding" of the influenza virus occurs shortly before outbreaks of the ailment.

THE CDC CONFIRMED that Don Harris, a 23-year-old farm worker at Brodhead, had contracted swine flu. At the same time, the agency said it had dispatched three medical investigators from Concordia, Mo., scene of another swine flu case, to the Wisconsin town to aid in the medical inquiry being conducted by state health officials.

"Additional blood specimens from the farm worker are being tested to insure that contamination did not occur in the collection or handling of the laboratory specimens," the CDC said.

"Concurrently, an investigation is underway in the Brodhead area to determine if the reported event is an isolated one or if spread to other individuals has occurred."

Dr. Millar said it was his "gut feeling that the occurrence of these two cases (in Missouri and Wisconsin) is significant but what it means is not quite clear."

HARRIS, WHO became ill during the Thanksgiving holidays, has recovered, as did the Concordia victim.

Both state and federal investigators were attempting to determine if the Wisconsin case resulted from contact with swine. William Schatz, coordinator of the Wisconsin swine flu program, was quoted as saying Harris had been in contact with pigs infected with swine flu.

The CDC said its investigation of the Missouri case had been essentially completed with no evidence found of any spread of swine flu from the one diagnosed case.

The Wisconsin case was discovered about two weeks ago when a veterinarian treated the pigs. Harris told him he wasn't feeling well and was advised to see a doctor.

"I just happened to be sick at the same time they (the pigs) were," Harris said.

His temperature peaked at 103.8 degrees, but he continued to work during the illness.

SUSAN HYLAND, a research assistant in the University of Wisconsin Dept. of Veterinary Science, said "There is no reason to panic." She said the CDC scientists were checking all possible contacts the man had and more tests would be conducted on his blood and throat cultures.

The pigs had the same virus and also have recovered, "but we don't know yet if he gave the flu to the pigs, the pigs gave it to him or what," she said.

Officials have said it is not established that humans can contract swine flu from hogs.

Harris' wife said neither she nor the couple's son, Jeremy, 1, had taken flu shots and didn't intend to.

"We aren't too upset about it," she said.

Carter begins interviews for cabinet-level jobs

ATLANTA (UPI) — Foreign policy experts from Republican and Democratic administrations went to the governor's mansion Tuesday for interviews with President-elect Jimmy Carter, who is selecting his Cabinet.

"Some are being considered for Cabinet-level positions; some are advising on specific problems," Carter press aide Rex Granum said.

Carter, Vice President-elect Walter F. Mondale, and long-time advisers Hamilton Jordan and Charles Kirbo planned hour-long interviews with:

• Paul Warnke, rumored under consideration as CIA director. He was assistant defense secretary for international security affairs in the Johnson administration and is now a Washington lawyer.

• Zbigniew Brzezinski, said to be Carter's choice as director of the National Security Council. He is a Columbia University professor and Carter's chief foreign policy adviser.

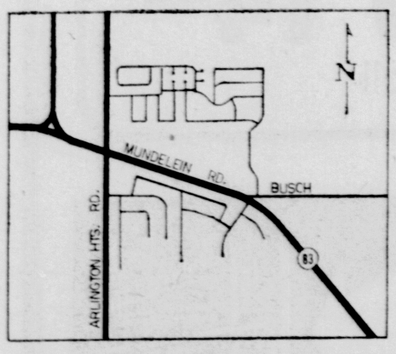
• James R. Schlesinger, possibly over-all chief of U.S. intelligence. A former CIA director and head of the Atomic Energy Commission, Schlesinger was fired as defense secretary by President Ford and was a Carter campaign adviser.

• Patricia Roberts Harris, a possible attorney general. She has been ambassador to Luxembourg and law dean at Howard University.

• Joseph Califano, Carter's consultant on the American family. He was White House domestic affairs assistant in the Johnson administration and is now a Washington lawyer.

Carter also was to meet with Harold Brown, the former Air Force secretary. He was considered No. 1 on the list of Carter's choices for secretary of defense.

Bell cuts off exchange change bid



RESIDENTS OF THE Strathmore Grove subdivision, northeast of Arlington Heights and Mundelein roads, Buffalo Grove, say Illinois Bell Telephone Co. is cutting them off from the village by giving them a different phone exchange than the rest of the village. Bell officials say there is nothing the phone company can do.

by JOHN N. FRANK

Residents of northern Buffalo Grove can call Peotone, Ill., 52 miles away cheaper than they can call village hall because of an Illinois Bell Telephone Co. policy.

"We're isolated from the rest of the village by fiat of the phone company," said Morris Rosman, a resident of the Strathmore Grove subdivision, located northeast of Arlington Heights and Ill. Rte. 83.

Residents of the subdivision have phone numbers beginning with 634 and are part of the Half Day, Ill., exchange.

THE REMAINDER of the village belongs to other exchanges which are part of the Chicago metropolitan calling area. Therefore, Strathmore Grove residents pay toll call rates to call the rest of Buffalo Grove and Chicago.

"It isn't unique for any given community to be served by more than one telephone exchange," said Al J. DeVon, district commercial manager for Illinois Bell. "We cannot change exchange boundaries everytime a developer puts up a new subdivision."

DeVon said the phone company does not have specific guidelines as to how often boundaries are reviewed for possible change and he said he did not know when Ill. Rte. 83 was established as the boundary for the Chicago calling area.

"The phone company is dividing the town and is putting us in a position of being second-class citizens," Rosman said. He said he has spoken with DeVon, but was not satisfied with his explanation.

"He told me I could call Peotone. I asked him how often he called Vladivostok," said Rosman, a member of a committee of Strathmore Grove homeowners who have been trying for nearly a year to have their exchange changed.

DeVON SAID present exchange boundaries are based on phone company studies of the number of calls made between different towns. Those studies show persons living north of Ill. Rte. 83 make the majority of calls to towns north of them, but the studies were made before Strathmore Grove was built in 1973.

DeVon said Strathmore Grove residents who need to make frequent calls to Chicago or the rest of Buffalo Grove can purchase a monthly unlimited call pack for $32. Residents of the rest of Buffalo Grove get the same system for $27, but they pay extra for calls to Peotone.

"Everybody wants a Wheeling-Buffalo Grove exchange," said Sandy Silver, another member of the citizens' committee which polled area residents last April on the problem.

Of those who responded, 90 per cent want their exchange changed, Silver said.

DeVON SAID the phone company considers the matter closed.

Rosman said the only recourse Strathmore Grove residents have is to appeal to their legislators and go before the Illinois Commerce Commission to testify against the phone company when it requests a rate hike.

"The phone company plainly doesn't give a damn. Its not changing the boundary makes no concession to progress at all," Rosman said.

"It's just a case of our not being able to change a telephone boundary every day," DeVon said.

Low temperatures continue... brrr

Low temperatures will continue in the Northwest suburbs and more snow is forcast to hit the Chicago area tonight. The National Weather Service said cold air out of the northern plains will sweep across Chicago today, keeping temperatures in the teens throughout the day. A snow system originating in the Rockies also will start moving eastward today. Its advance guard will sweep through Chicago by tonight, bringing light snow flurries tonight and Thursday. The weather system, however, also will produce higher temperatures by the time it reaches Chicago Friday. Temperatures are expected to hit the upper 20s Thursday and the 30s by the weekend, though brisk 10-to 15-m.p.h. winds from the north will prevail. Snow is forecast through Friday, with fair weather for the weekend.

30-to 60-year jail term ordered

A Chicago man found guilty of the attempted murder of a Niles nursing home employe was sentenced Tuesday to the stiffest sentence imposed this year in a Northwest suburban court.

In the Des Plaines branch of Cook County Circuit Court, Associate Judge Jerome Burke ordered a 30-to 60-year prison sentence for Elijah Childs, 27, for the Feb. 24, 1976 attempted murder of Alfred Rodriquez, an employe of the Pleasant View Nursing Home in Niles. Childs also was sentenced to serve a concurrent 20-to 40-year term for armed robbery and three other terms of 3 to 10 years for aggravated battery. Childs was convicted after a four-day trial for shooting Rodriquez three times in the head during a robbery attempt at the nursing home. Rodriquez testified in the case. The case was tried locally under the court's felony bypass program in which suburban felony cases, which formerly had to be tried in Chicago, can be tried by designated associate judges in suburban court.

Homicide cases get new judge

A Chicago criminal defense attorney, elected Nov. 2 to the Cook County Circuit Court, will assume two homicide-related cases involving Northwest suburban residents. Judge R. Eugene Pincham, elected to the Circuit Court in November, Tuesday assumed the caseload of former Circuit Court Judge Philip Romiti, who was elevated to the Illinois Appellate Court in the November elections. Among the cases over which he will preside are those involving Patricia Columbo and Frank DeLuca, accused slayers of Miss Columbo's Elk Grove Village family; and James Loughnane, Arlington Heights resident charged with the attempted drowning murder of his 17-year-old son.

District races urged in Wheeling

Wheeling Village Trustee William Hein has proposed village trustees be elected from districts rather than under the present at-large system. Hein Tuesday said he feels dividing the village into aldermanic districts will "get more people interested in the village government because they are voting and electing people from the same area. Hein said a reftrendum on the issue should be on the ballot in the April election. "I think it would be a much more efficient and smoother operation. It would give everybody a voice in the government," he said.

In area of Soviet 'nuclear accident'

'Nothing for hundreds of miles'

REHOVOTH, Israel (UPI) — A professor who said he witnessed the aftermath of a nuclear accident in the Soviet Union says the catastrophe turned hundreds of square miles into a "vast nothing" that left the land barren "for perhaps hundreds of years."

"As far as the eye could see there were no villages, no towns, no people," said Leo Tumerman, professor emeritus at the Weitzmann Institute, who once spent seven years in solitary confinement under Stalin and emigrated to Israel in 1972.

"Only chimneys remained of the towns that once were there," he said in an interview with UPI.

TUMERMAN, 78, described a trip he took through the area with a group of other scientists, driving along the main north-south Urals highway in June 1961, three years after the explosion reportedly took place.

First reports of the disaster reached the West last month when Soviet scientist Zhores Medvedev published in London an account of a 1958 nuclear explosion in the town of Kyshtim that killed hundreds and resulted in the evacuation of the local population.

Tumerman said the scientists were on their way to visit the construction site of the first major Soviet atomic plant at Beloyarsk, in the northern Urals.

"We reached a point on the highway where signs appeared telling drivers to close their windows and to drive as quickly as possible without stopping," he said.

"I ASKED MY driver why we could not stop and he told me that there had been a tremendous explosion several years before and ever since then it had been like this," he said.

"On either side of the road there was nothing — an empty, empty land. There were trees and grass, but where there once were villages and herds and industry there was nothing. Only chimneys remained."

The scientist said the accident was the result of a mishap at a military plutonium deposit "either for burying atomic waste or for processing plutonium to make bombs."

"The explosion was the result of the negligence of officials. They were careless and a catastrophe occurred," he said.

Kusper recount shows Mikva's lead a bit less

by STEVE BROWN

Cook County Clerk Stanley T. Kusper Jr. Tuesday said results of the discovery recount in the 10th Congressional District race show U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva's victory margin dipping from 201 to 197 votes.

Kusper's announcement came after county election officials finished a two-day discovery recount of ballots cast Nov. 2 in 132 precincts in the district.

However, William Swindal, an attorney for Smauel H. Young, the Republican who trailed Mikva, said their figures show Mikva's victory margin dropped to 187 votes.

Swindal said there are another 225 uninitialed ballots tabulated that should not have been counted.

"UNDER ILLINOIS law, in paper ballot elections, which this was, uninitialed ballots should not be counted," Swindal said. He said a decision on asking for a full recount is expected today.

He said of the 225 uninitialed ballots, Young supporters were able to determine there were 75 votes for Mikva and 25 votes for Young. Recount observers were unable to determine how the remaining ballots were cast because county election workers refused to allow for a complete inspection of all the ballots, Swindal said.

Swindal said Young will attempt to have the uninitialed ballots excluded from the election results.

Kusper said he was pleased by the results of both the 10th District recount and an earlier recount involving the 5th Legislative District.

"This shows the true value and credibility of the new voting system," Kusper said. He said in the two recounts more than 70,000 ballots were recounted and the margin of error proved to be less than .001 per cent.

MIKVA AIDES said their figures on the recount showed only three fewer votes for Mikva. An aide said in the recount there were 18 fewer votes for Mikva and 15 fewer votes for Young.

The aide said discrepancies were found in 19 precincts.

Kusper said the discovery recount results will not change the outcome of the official election results.

Young had told The Herald he planned to seek a full recount of all 530 precincts in the 10th district regardless of the results of the discovery recount.

On Ratings

by Ed Landwehr

Perhaps you saw that TV program describing the TV rating system methods. It baffles me how a few hundred individual counts can depict what millions of TV viewers would like to enjoy. It seems that many good shows are canceled on the premise of these figures.

Maybe people watch because they paid hard-earned money for their TV set and hopefully keep looking. I think it boils down to two categories, programs that are watched and those that are enjoyed. Now if someone can come up with a rating system that polls this, we'll have a practical rating system.

For example, when the TV man services your TV set you either like his work and price or you don't. LANDWEHR'S TV & APPLIANCES, 1000 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights strives to do the kind of servicing that you like. Our growing list of customers verifies this. They keep the phone number 255-0900 and recommend it to their friends. This is the best rating system!

Family's mark—'better late than never'—still safe

by TOM VON MALDER

If everything had gone according to the script, Masako Hayakawa would be packing her bags today and heading for the delivery room of Sherman Hospital, Elgin.

Instead, she's at home in Elk Grove Village taking care of week-old Mami. The bags are all unpacked, and the delivery room was never needed — Mami's birthplace was a speeding car somewhere on Golf Road.

Until Nov. 30, Masako's pregnancy had followed the script. But then the pains started, subsided and started again. She called her husband at work.

AT THE TIME, Massao Hayakawa thought he had plenty of time. After all, the doctor said the baby wouldn't be born for another 10 days or so, and his wife's contractions were coming further and further apart.

So he drove from his Lincolnwood dental laborataory to his home at 109 Tottenham Ln., found a babysitter for 2½-year-old Mayu and loaded his wife into the car and headed out along Golf Road for the trip to Elgin.

About the time he reached Barrington Road, it became clear that he was out of time. "It's coming," his wife shouted. "It's coming!"

"Not yet," Hayakawa replied.

THE TRAFFIC LIGHT, he recalls, "said not to go." But if there was one thing that Hayakawa wanted to see it was a police car, so he ran the red light.

"The police didn't come," he says, "so I went 70, 75. I wanted to meet the police for help."

There was no policeman to be seen, and just as the Hayakawas sped past Ill. Rte. 31, the baby was born.

"It's here," Mrs. Hayakawa told htr husband, who didn't dare take his eyes off the road.

"I thought the baby dead because it didn't cry," Mrs. Hayakawa says. "I held it and it began crying."

ABOUT 15 MINUTES later, a shaken Hayakawa pulled up to the emergency room entrance of Sherman Hospital. "A doctor and nurse came to the car and said the baby was alive. They cut the cord and took them inside to become warm," Hayakawa says.

Two days later mother and daughter, 6-pound 10-ounce Mami, the Japanese word for "truth," were released from the hospital.

"We are very happy and very lucky," Mrs. Hayakawa says.

Being late to the hospital was not a first for Hayakawa — he was a month late for his own wedding.

HAYAKAWA WAS living in Calgary, Alberta, Canada because of the better opportunities to learn his profession. He had wanted to be in the United States but "the United States to get in was very tough at the time but Canada opened the immigration."

During a 1972 trip home to the Prefecture of Shizuoka, near Mount Fuji, Japan, Hayakawa met Masako. After a whirlwind, five-day courtship and several trans-Pacific telephone calls, the couple decided to marry.

Because Hayakawa already was back in Canada and Masako did not have a visa, they got "a paper marriage" Oct. 5, 1972.

Being married made it easier for Masako to get a visa, but before she left Japan, there was a January 1973 wedding ceremony, attended by both pairs of parents. Because of his job, Hayakawa could not attend, so his brother stood in for him.

In February 1973, a second wedding took place in Calgary. It combined a traditional Japanese Buddhist ceremony with the Western tradition of exchanging rings.

The Hayakawas finally made it to the United States about three years ago and moved to Elk Grove Village two ytars ago.

O'Neill vows to put teeth in ethics code

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the next House speaker saying he would "put teeth" in Congress' code of conduct, House Democrats Tuesday agreed to change the makeup of the ethics committee, including limiting how long its chairman may serve.

The 296-member Democratic caucus limited the ethics chairmanship to two consecutive terms and barred the heads of other panels from membership on the committee. Those already on the panel would not be affected.

Speaker-designate Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill said, "I intend to put teeth into the ethics of the Congress" and said he would appoint an ad hoc committee to tighten the House's code of ethics.

THE CHANGE IN the Ethics Committee would have gone into effect immediately under the amendment first proposed by Rep. Andrew Maguire of New Jersey. However, Chairman John Flynt of Georgia persuaded him to add a grandfather clause to protect him and three other members of the panel.

Other proposals to be offered later this week would require greater disclosure of personal finances as well as how legislative funds are handled and a streamlined work schedule to expedite legislation.

Expected amendments to the caucus and House rules include a ban on "lame duck" members from traveling abroad at taxpayer expenses and a limit of $100 in the size of gifts members can accept — which is aimed at the current inquiry into gifts of thousands of dollars from South Korean agents.

A special committee also is expected to be set up to screen how members spend tax funds on foreign study trips.

The caucus rejected, on a 96-39 vote, a proposal to limit a committee chairmanship to three terms — or six years. The proposal would not have covered chairmen to be named in the new Congress that convenes Jan. 4.

Local, state officials no strangers to high salaries

$41,500; East Maine Dist. 63, G. Allan Gogo, $42,000; Buffalo Grove-Long Grove Dist. 96, William Hitzeman, $32,500.

High School Superintendents are Dist. 125, Robert McKanna, $35,000; Dist. 207, Richard Short, $47,100; Dist. 214, Edward Gilbert, $45,000; and Oakton College Pres. William Koehnline $38,000.

Arlington Heights Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson has a public income of $42,500 and, like Thompson, Hanson believes that when it comes to hiring talented public officials, you pretty much get what you pay for.

"If you want the best, you have to be competitive," Hanson said. "If you're not, you're bound to wind up with second-class employes," he said.

Public employe salaries that are competitive with the private sector also tend to cut down employe turnover, he said. "The cost of turnover of people is probably one of the costliest things you can have going on in an organization."

HANSON SAID that he thought it probably would be fair to pay the governor more than $50,000 a year. But he also noted that many persons in the governor's mansion traditionally have "other aspirations" and already are wealthy before they get electel.

Schaumburg Village Mgr. John E. Coste, who is the village's highest paid employe at $29,050, said that after he retired as a naval officer in 1968 he had several job offers for twice as much money as he wound up getting as Arlington Heights' assistant village manager. He pecame Schaumburg village manager in 1972.

"I refused the other offers because I wanted to go into public administration and that was that," Coste said.

Higher salaries for public officials may help stem temptation that leads to corruption, Coste said.

ONE NORTHWEST suburban public employe, who said he recently interviewed with a private firm in Chicago, said a government job is a two-sided coin. "The private sector offers more money but not as much job security as local government," he said.

The employe, who now makes about $20,000 a year, said top pay for his type of job in the private sector is $40,000 and he says he knows he could earn more if he were employed privately.

"I guess if I were offered two jobs, one in local government and one in the private area, and the salaries were the same, I would take the government job because I enjoy the challenge of trying to help people," he said.

Palatine Village Mgr. Anton H. Harwig is paid $30,500 a year. As a rule, he says, public officials are not on par with comparable positions in the private sector.

"There's a profit motivation in the private sector that doesn't exist in the public sector," he said. "Even though both types of jobs are equally demanding, the public sector does not seem to be recognized on a par with private industry — maybe unfairly."

SALARIES OF other village or city managers in the Northwest suburbs are: Rolling Meadows $20,708; Hoffman Estates $30,000; Wheeling $24,500; Des Plaines (full-time mayor) $25,000; Mount Prospect $38,135 and Elk Grove Village $31,500.

The director of the Cook County hospitals governing board, Dr. James Haughton, has been called the highest-paid public official in the Chicago area. Haughton tips the salary scale at $84,271 a year.

Milton Pikarasky, controversial chairman of the Regional Transportation Authority, now draws $72,500 a year, although the law authorizes $82,500. Pikarsky voluntarily took a $10,000 pay cut in February, 1975, in an effort to appease his political foes.

Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, sometimes called the king of big city mayors, has the relatively unprincely salary of $60,000.

Thompson says he will appoint a committee of businessmen to study the salaries of both elected and non-elected state officials, including his own.

ONE WHO MADE the transition easily from big business to government is Illinois Republican Sen. Charles Percy.

Percy warned Tuesday that the public should not be "penny wise and pound foolish" when it comes to attracting quality public employes.

Percy, former president of Bell and Howell, said he did not decide to go into public life until he reached a point where he would not be dependent on a public salary.

"The salary for a U.S. Senator was $30,000 10 years ago. That does not go very far when you are talking about sending two children through college and maintaining two homes," Percy said.

He said that while most members of the U.S. Senate live off their current salaries, he is not because of the various business interests he put into blind trusts before being elected.

"You get what you pay for and I think the salaries should be set to attract the finest possible people and not deprive them totally of the livelihood they could make in the private sector," he added.

Percy declined to comment on the current debate in Illinois over salaries for state officials, the governor and members of the General Assembly.

My reputation tarnished: Ware

Chicago police official Mitchell Ware, acquitted last week in a wiretap case, said Tuesday he has a "severe distaste" for the judgment of U.S. Atty. Samuel Skinner and Atty. Gen. Edward Levi. Ware, a deputy Chicago police superintendent, told a news conference, "My reputation has been blackened with a mark that will follow me the rest of my life — all for doing my job."

Ware and Richard Gliebe, both former superintendents of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation, were indicted last summer on charges of using illegal wiretaps while they each were head of the IBI. The case was tried before U.S. District Court Judge George N. Leighton who issued a directed verdict of acquittal when the prosecution finished presenting its case last week. Leighton said "no reasonable mind" could find the two guilty of a crime.

Power gets park district job

Former Cook County Circuit Court Judge Joseph Power, voted out of office by his constituents, will remain on the public payroll, Chicago officials announced Tuesday. Power, 60, a neighbor and former law partner of Mayor Richard J. Daley, was appointed general counsel of the Chicago Park District, a post that pays $32,052 a year. As a circuit court judge, Power received $42,500 annually.

Park District Pres. Patrick J. O'Malley announced the appointment, saying Power will replace Richard J. Troy, who was elected commissioner of the Metropolitan Sanitary District. Power was first elected to the bench in 1954 and served nine years as chief judge of the criminal division. He was the only Chicago judge on the Cook County judicial retention ballot Nov. 2 to fall short of the 60 per cent approval vote needed to remain in office.

Housing sought for woman, 3 kids

Social workers searched Tuesday for a new apartment for Linda Miller and her three young daughters who were forced out into the snow Monday because she was unable to pay the $190-a-month rent in her North Side apartment. Mrs. Miller was evicted at 9:30 a.m. Monday and the family's furniture and clothes remained out in the street, covered by snow, until 9 p.m. Monday night when Mrs. Miller and her children found refuge in her aunt's apartment.

Mrs. Miller said her 7-year-old daughter Ronda may have suffered frost bite from standing around outside the apartment. Mrs. Miller has two other daughters — Susie, 9, and Jennifer, 6. "I felt so sorry for the children," said one resident in the apartment building. "They're the ones who really suffer. I saw them trying to pull their little toys in plastic bags down the street."

Illinois briefs

'Hiring law applies to highway office'

Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott said Tuesday he believes the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority must follow provisions of the state's personnel code concerning equal employment opportunity for women, minorities and handicapped persons. In a legal opinion requested by the state's Equal Employment Opportunity Office, Scott said new state statutes concerning hiring practices do not conflict with the authority's power to hire and fire without regard to conditions set up for the Dept. of Personnel. He said there is no conflict because the law simply provides for job opportunity fairness for those three groups.

Payroll up by 1,000 in state

Comptroller George W. Lindberg said Tuesday nearly 1,000 more employes were on the state payroll in October than the previous month, with most of the increase coming from state schools. Lindberg, in his monthly state payroll report, said all state agencies employed 117,214 persons in October, an increase of 973 or .8 per cent, over September. Lindberg said the state paid its employes more than $115.6 million for October, an increase of about $3 million over September.

State sells $150 million in bonds

Illinois sold $150 million in general obligation bonds for highways, construction and environmental projects Tuesday after receiving a high bond rating. The Bureau of the Budget said Illinois has received a triple-A rating from two bond rating services, Moody's Investors Service and Standard and Poor's Corp., for its general obligation bonds. The sale includes $35 million Transportation Bonds, Series A (supplemental freeways); $40 million Capital Development Bonds; $35 million School Construction Bonds and $40 million Anti-Pollution Bonds.

Top court OKs pregnancy cost insurance cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In an opinion affecting women workers all over the country, the Supreme Court ruled 6 to 3 Tuesday that excluding pregnancy from an employer's disability insurnce plan is not a violation of federal law.

Speaking for the majority, Justice William H. Rehnquist said leaving pregnancy out of sickness and accident plans is not based on sex at all. He said the plan of the General Electric Co., the employer involved in the test case, is no more than an insurnce package covering some risks but not others.

The plan was challenged by 43 present or former women employes at plants in Richmond, Portsmouth and Salem, Va., Tyler, Tex., Fort Wayne and Tell City, Ind., and Philadelphia.

ATTORNEY RUTH Weyand, who represented the women and the International Union of Electrical Workers, said an attempt will be made to have Congress overcome the effects of the decision.

"Our prospects are very good," she said, for a bill dealing with all aspects of discrimination regarding pregnancy.

She said otherwise she is "concerned" about the effect of the GE decision on medical and hospital plans when contracts providing them come up for renegotiation.

The National Organization for Women said in a statement "NOW protests. The court, in a 6-3 decision, stated that men and women are treated equally under such a plan, because if a man is pregnant he will be treated in the same way as a woman.

"Such a definition of a sex discrimination is indeed unique. Justice Rehnquist stated in the majority opinion that there was no intent to discriminate. However, the result is exactly that."

REHNQUIST ACCEPTED GE's argument that the case was governed by a 1974 Supreme Court ruling which allowed California to exclude pregnancy from a disability insurance system for persons in private employment.

There is no reason to treat the GE plan differently, Rehnquist said, unless the women could show the company used the plan as a mere pretext for imposing discrimination on members of one sex. He said there is no such proof.

Justice John Paul Stevens, whose nomination was opposed by some women's groups, came out strongly in their favor. He said placing absence on account of pregnancy in a class by itself is sex discrimination, "for it is the capacity to become pregnant whch primarily differentiates the female from the male."

Justice William J. Brennan Jr., speaking for himself and the third dissenter, Thurgood Marshall, said "the court's assumption that General Electric engaged in a gender-neutral risk-assignment process is purely fanciful."

In other actions Tuesday the court:

- Allowed Idaho to bring directly to the high court its suit against Oregon and Washington state demanding an equal share of salmon and other fish in the Columbia River.
- Rejected an appeal by three Mississippi public school teachers of a rule — no longer in effect — preventing them from sending their children to private "white" academies.

PILOT AL STROUT returns to the scene of a crash at Pal-Waukee Airport, Prospect Heights, in which a twin-engine Cessna 320 Skynight he was piloting ran off a slick runway while on takeoff and crashed into two parked airplanes Tuesday afternoon. Strout and his two passengers, who were prospective buyers of his $49,000 aircraft, escaped with minor injuries.

Seniors bus in '77 town funds?

The funding of a shuttle bus to carry senior citizens across the township lines of Wheeling, Elk Grove and Palatine may be worked into each of the township budgets for 1977.

Buses for senior citizens now travel only within township boundaries. But township supervisors said there may be a need for inter-township service, and they have met once to discuss it.

"Notning is really firm on it at all," said Richard Hall, Elk Grove township supervisor. "But we agreed that we'd like to work on it."

HALL AND WHEELING Township Supervisor Ethel Kolerus said when budgets are reviewed, the extended bus service is an item that will be included in discussions. Palatine Township officials could not be reached to comment.

Hall said a survey of bus riders would be taken in Elk Grove Township to accurately gauge the necessity of the added service.

"We're just monitoring calls right now from people living in one area who want to go to another," Hall said.

Municipalities that are divided by township lines and would benefit directly from the proposed shuttle bus are Rolling Meadows, Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

HALL SAID A SPECIAL bus would bus service in the three townships bus service in te three townships would remain the same.

Wheeling Township offers rides to senior citizens by appointment and by a route system on alternating days. Elk Grove and Wheeling township seniors must make an appointment to be picked up by the bus.

The townships have met with Suburban Shuttle Systems Inc., Rolling Meadows, to discuss the inter-township bus plan. Officials say no cost estimates have been made, but they say the cost would be evenly split.

Hearings delayed in Vargo death

Pretrial hearings for a 23-year-old Arlington Heights man charged with reckless homicide in connection with the traffic death of a village patrolman have been continued to Jan. 2 in the Evanston Branch of Cook County Circuit Court.

Timothy M. Draut, 746 N. Belmont Ave., has been charged with reckless homicide and five other charges after he allegedly drove around a police barricade July 18 struck and fatally injured Alan Vargo, 24, who was directing traffic around the scene of an earlier auto accident.

Draut, who is free on $50,000 bail, appeared Tuesday morning in the Evanston courtroom, where his attorneys requested and received a continuation in pretrial hearings.

Pilot swerves off Pal-Waukee runway

Injuries minor in plane crash

by DAVE IBATA

Three persons escaped with minor injuries Tuesday afternoon when a twin-engine aircraft in which they were riding swerved off a runway at Pal-Waukee Airport and crashed into two parked planes.

A Cessna 320 Skynight had started its take-off run on a northwest bound runway at about 3:30 p.m. Tuesday when pilot Al Strout of Columbus, Ohio lost control on the snow-slicked runway and skidded into a row of parked planes.

The Skynight chewed through a Cessna 182 Skylane, spun around and became entangled with a Piper Tri-Pacer before stopping in ankle-deep snow at the Prospect Heights airport.

The Skynight's cockpit remained intact, and there was no fire after the crackup. The three aboard reportedly escaped with minor cuts.

WHEELING FIREFIGHTERS rushed passengers Patricia Gatlin, 39, of Griffith Ind.. and Marvin Weiner, 50, of Hayward, Calif.,. to Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines. The two were treated and released Tuesday night.

Damage to the $49,000 1966 Skynight was estimated at $35,000, said a representative for Air Exchange, 1098 S. Milwaukee Ave., Prospect Heights, operator of the airplane. Portions of wings and entire tail sections of the privately-owned parked airplanes were destroyed.

The Skynight, offered for sale by Strout, reportedly was to make a demonstration flight from Pal-Waukee to Meigs Field in Chicago for Ms. Gatlin and Weiner, prospective customers.

Strout said he had received clearance from the Pal-Waukee control tower to take off. He said he steered to the left of a Cessna 150 trainer, which was stuck in the snow to one side of the runway and which airport personnel were trying to rock loose.

STROUT SAID braking action on the runway was poor, and his airplane veered to the right. He said he corrected with more power to his left engine, which pulled his airplane to the left.

The next thing he knew, Strout said, his Skynight had shot off the runway, through a snowbank and toward a line of planes parked northwest of Hangar 3 near the Palatine Frontage Road.

Witnesses of the crash said the Skynight was 300 yards down the runway when it ran into the snow.

Wheeling firefighters, the Illinois State Police and the Federal Aviation Administration's General Aviation District Office at DuPage County Airport in West Chicago were notified.

FAA investigator Monford C. Obrecht Tuesday night headed the investigation of the crash.

Harrises arraigned in 'wrestling' bout

Symbionese Liberation Army members William and Emily Harris, charged with kidnaping Patricia Hearst, were arraigned Tuesday despite vigorous objections and a wrestling match with Alameda County Sheriff's deputies. The altercation came after Superior Court Judge Alan Lindsay refused their request for a change of attorneys and ordered the pair arraigned at once.

"I will not be arraigned today," Emily said and started for a side door out. Her husband leaped to his feet, apparently to open the door for her, and five deputies grabbed the two. William was thrown to the floor, and Emily restrained in an upright position and her arms handcuffed behind her. Several other deputies from outside the courtroom started in but the judge said, "We do not need additional help."

When court resumed, Lindsay ordered the handcuffs removed from Emily. After the outbreak both defendants remained mute as the court clerk read off the indictment which included charges on the kidnap of Miss Hearst, another abduction, robbery, assault, false imprisonment and eight counts of assault with a deadly weapon. Miss Hearst was abducted by the SLA on Feb. 4, 1974.

The judge said he would give the Harrises "a reasonable time" to deny the 13 charges or to enter pleas. If they did not, he said, he would enter innocent pleas for them. Lindsay set May 2 for trial and continued the case until Dec. 23 for further arguments.

Gilmore's mom an 'interloper'

Gary Gilmore and the State of Utah told the U.S. Supreme Court Tuesday that the convict's mother was an "interloper" who had no right to thwart his death wish. The state's answer to an appeal of Gilmore's death sentence — and the stay which prevented his execution Monday — was drafted by a team of attorneys who worked through the night and almost to a 5 p.m. EST Tuesday deadline set by the court.

The legal documents were transmitted to Washington on FBI and U.S. Senate telecopiers, then taken to the high court by aides to Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah. Justices of the U.S. Supreme Court were expected to take up Gilmore's case at their Wednesday conference. They must decide whether to extend the stay of execution granted last week in order to review the constitutionality of Utah's death penalty statute.

Carter win cost $22 million

Jimmy Carter spent about $6 million in the last two weeks of his successful presidential campaign, half of it on a last minute media blitz and airline travel, his campaign records showed Tuesday. Carter's 30 day post election campaign spending report filed with the Federal Election Commission showed Carter spent a total of just over $22 million on the campaign — temporarily in excess of the legal limit of $21.8 million. But the total will fall within the legal bounds when reporters and Secret Service agents reimburse the Carter campaign $717,000 for travel expenses.

The report covers the period starting two weeks prior to election day. It showed in the final drive for the presidency Carter spent $1.9 million with the Gerald Rafshoon advertising agency in Atlanta to pay for national radio and television commercials. In addition the reports list pages of additional thousands of dollars of advertising taken directly with local newspapers, radio and television stations.

Italians clash with police

Hundreds of youths hurling firebombs and overturning vehicles clashed with Milan police Tuesday night in an attempt to block the black tie opening night festivities of the famed La Scala opera house. A force of about 2,500 police called in from northern Italian cities kept the demonstrators and the violence far away from the 198-year-old opera house in the city center and the opening night's performance of Giuseppe Verdi's "Otello" went on as scheduled.

In clashes that started about two hours before curtain time, police said more than 200 leftist demonstrators overturned a bus, burned a streetcar, blocked streets and hurled firebombs at police trying to stop them. Police responded with repeated volleys of tear gas canisters. At least 10 persons were injured, including one youth who broke a leg falling off a wall and another burned when a firebomb went off in his hands. Police arrested and detained 50 persons and stopped about 2000 more for identity checks.

Israelis break up protest

Israeli soldiers fired into the air and heaved tear gas canisters at rock-throwing, masked Arab youths in Nablus Tuesday to break up a demonstration against occupation policies on the West Bank of Jordan. Businessmen in Nablus and Hebron, the two largest towns on the West Bank, closed their shops to protest a new 8 per cent sales tax, although they said they would negotiate for a lower rate.

Authorities imposed a curfew on the Casbah in Nablus, the old market district that has been a focal point for recent disturbances. The protest, which began when youths set a pile of tires ablaze in the town's main square, was timed to coincide with the U.N. General Asstmbly's debate of the Middle East situation, Arab sources said.

Judge declares mistrial for Gov. Mandel, 4 others

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Citing "the most prejudicial type of publicity" about an alleged attempt to bribe a juror, a federal judge declared a mistrial Tuesday in the political corruption trial of Gov. Marvin Mandel and four other men.

U.S. District Court Judge John H. Pratt said a fair trial became impossible when jury members heard a news bulletin last Friday night about the arrest of Walter Weikers for allegedly trying to bribe a juror to assure an acquittal.

Mandel and his codefendants are charged with mail fraud and racketeering. The governor is alleged to have accepted financial interests in two business ventures in return for influencing legislation in 1972 that benefited a race track secretly owned by his codefendants.

THE JURORS, who had heard three months of testimony, were watching a television movie in their hotel when the program was interrupted by news of Weiker's arrest on charges of obstructing justice. Weiker, 67, is a furniture salesman from suburban Pikesville.

"It goes without saying that publicity concernng a charge of attempted bribery, except for publicity concerning confessions of guilt, is perhaps the most prejudicial type of publicity since any juror, including a conscientious juror, would draw the inference of involvement on the part of some defendant," Pratt said.

Mandel, W. Dale Hess, William A. Rodgers, Harry W. Rodgers III and Ernest N. Cory Jr. went on trail 13 weeks ago, charged in a 23-count mail fraud and racketeering indictment.

ASST. U.S. Atty. Barnet D. Skolnik asked Pratt to request the jury not to discuss the trial "in view of the necessity to try this case again."

Mandel said Pratt had "no alternative but to declare a mistrial at this late stage of my trial.

"Here we were at the point where we were just starting to present evidence in the case that would have vindicated me," he said. "We got cut off just as we got started. It was showing I was in no way involved."

Asked if he thought he could receive a fair trial in Maryland in light of all the publicity, he answered, "I have great faith in the peoplt of Maryland."

Dutch millionaire charged with killing Jews

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — Police Tuesday announced the arrest of fugitive Dutch millionaire art dealer Pieter Menten, accused of responsibility for the death of at least 300 Polish Jews during World War II while he was a Nazi SS officer.

Tracked down in a secluded hotel where he had registered under an assumed name and said he was an Irish lord, Menten surrendered to police on an Interpol warrant shortly before midnight Monday. A Dutch police captain said documents in his room indicated he had intended to fly to New York Wednesday.

Once in custody, he tried three times to take tranquilizers, then fainted. Swiss police said it was not a suicide attempt, however.

THE NETHERLANDS immediately asked for Menten's extradition, Swiss government officials said. But there are legal and diplomatic complications since Switzerland has no law governing war crimes.

The Swiss government agreed in 1965 to expel any alien suspected of "crimes against humanity" — usually to the destination of his choice — but a spokesman said "in this case . . . it would be taken into consideration which country wants such a person back in order to face charges."

Menton, who served an eight-month prison term in 1950 for collaborating with the Nazis, fled his 25-room villa near Amsterdam two weeks ago — one day before he was to have been picked up for questioning about charges he was responsible for the death of at least 300 Jews in Poland. Dutch authorities made an international request for his arrest.

The allegations against Menten, raised earlier this year by journalists in Holland and Israel, include the suspicion he sent Jews to their death while he wa a Nazi SS officer in 1941 and 1942.

Menten reportedly went to Poland in 1930 and built up a property and art business. After his alleged SS service he returned to Holland in 1943 with two railroad boxcars full of valuable paintings.

Pining to be a woodsman?

Grab a saw and take to the farm to cut your yule tree

What could be more appropriate for a Bicentennial Christmas than to follow in the footsteps of your forefathers and take to the woods, saw in hand, to cut your own Christmas tree.

Today's woodsman will be more restricted than the early settlers because conservation laws prohibit hacking away at just any old tree. Acres of trees are available, however, within the confines of tree farms where staggered plantings assure an ongoing forest ready for annual harvesting.

Those crossing the state line to chop in Wisconsin are warned that state police officials who see you with a tree will stop you to check for a sales receipt before you and your spruce, pine or fir can enter Illinois. Wisconsin property owners wishing to bring a tree to Illinois must show a property tax receipt to verify ownership of the property where the tree was cut. If you're planning to cut a tree on a friend's Wisconsin property, be sure to get a signed and dated note.

THE ILLINOIS DEPT. of Conservation suggests that the best way to ensure you get a fresh tree is to select and cut it yourself. Most foresters believe pine is the safest Christmas tree because its long needles retain moisture longer than other species.

The department advises that once a tree is in your house, it should be placed in a stand with plenty of water. However, don't add sugar to the water to keep the tree fresh. Sugar-fed trees will burn stronger if they catch fire.

Some area tree farms are closed this year and others are limiting their sales to regular customers because of a shortage of mature trees.

THE FOLLOWING list includes Illinois tree farms that are open to the public and have a plentiful supply:

• Petersen Tree Farm located in Barrington Hills on Springwood Lane between Sutton and Bateman roads about 1½ miles northwest of the Rte. 62 and Rte. 59 intersection. Price is $2 a foot plus $1 a tree for Scotch pine. Open daylight hours through Dec. 23. Phone: 428-4228.

• Gengel Tree Farm located on Fairfield Road, a half mile north of Ill. Rte. 132 in Lake Villa. Price is $7 a tree. Scotch pine available. Open daylight hours through Dec. 24. Phone: 356-5661.

• Don Norris Tree Farm located on Bliss and Norris roads, four miles west of Sugar Grove. Price is $5 a tree. Cedar, white pine, red pine and jack pine available. Open daylight hours through Dec. 24. Phone: 466-4278.

• Oney's Christmas Tree Farm, 16608 Rte. 14, between Woodstock and Harvard. Price is $7. Red pine, white pine and Scotch pine available. Open 9 a.m. to sundown until Dec. 24. Phone: 815-338-4108.

• G.L. Suda located on Greeleaf, one block north of Washington Street in Gurnee. Price is $8. Scotch pines are available. Open daylight hours on weekends only or weekdays by calling 623-2870 or 662-2711.

• Hayden's Christmas Tree Farm on Hunt Club Road, a half mile west of Rte. 94 in Antioch. Price is $10. Red cedar, scotch pine, fir and spruce are available. Open Saturdays and Sundays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Phone: 395-4127.

• Ted Knight Tree Farm located just outside of Ivanhoe, one mile north of Rte. 176 on Rte. 83. Price is $10 and Knight sells trees six to eight feet tall. Scotch pines of the French and Spanish variety are available. Open Saturdays and Sundays from 10 a.m. to dark. Phone: 566-7817.

• Charles Burlingham Tree Farm, 2S 341 Finley Rd., Lombard. Price is $8 and up. Scotch and white pines, Douglas firs and Concolor firs are available. Open daylight hours through Dec. 24. Phone: 627-4123.

• Marmion Abbey at Rte. 56, 1 mile east of North Aurora. An $8 donation will be used for missionary work. Scotch, red and white pines are available. Open 9:30 a.m. to sundown through Dec. 23. Phone: 897-7215.

• Tammen Tree Berry Farm located on Essex Road, 3½ miles south of Rte. 113, Wilmington. Price is $7. Scotch pine and white pine are available. Open 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. until Dec. 24. Phone: 815-939-4060.

• Minshall's Tree Farm in Caledonia located northwest of Belvidere on Orth Road near Olson Road. Price is $1.25 a foot for Scotch, white and red pines and $3 to $4 a foot for their 18 to 20 foot Douglas fir and spruce. Open daylight hours through Dec. 24. Phone: 815-885-3337.

• Rabideau Tree Farm located west of Kankakee on Road 1300, 3½ miles north of Rte. 17. Price is $5 for trees up to 10 feet and $7 for trees taller than 10 feet. Scotch, red and white pine available. Open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. through Dec. 24. Phone: 815-426-2550.

• Barker Christmas Trees located two miles northwest of Essex, Ill. Price is 90 cents a foot with most trees $5 and up. Scotch pine and spruce are available. Open daylight hours through Dec. 19. Phone: 815-365-2367.

• Bauling Tree Farm located 2½ miles west of South Beloit on Prairie Hill and Yale Bridge roads. Price is $5. Scotch, white and red pine available. Open daylight hours to Dec. 19. Phone: 815-624-7385.

One more reminder. Tree farm owners suggest you bring your own saws.

Check pre-cut trees for their freshness

If the pre-cut fresh trees are your forte, follow a few guidelines from the Illinois Dept. of Conservation when selecting the perfect tree.

• Bend the needles to test for dryness. If needles are brittle or fall when they are bent, the tree is not fresh.

• Tap the tree on the ground several times to check for needle shedding. If it sheds, it is not fresh.

• Touch the cut portion of the stump with your hand to determine if the exposed core is sticky. If it is sticky, the tree is fairly fresh.

• If the tree you select is frozen when you get it home, place the stem in water and set the tree in a cool area, allowing it to thaw slowly before bringing it indoors.

Your tree should be placed in a stand filled with water. Cut off one inch of the stump before putting the tree in the stand. You will be able to tell how fresh your tree is by the amount of water it consumes in the first few days. A fresh 6-foot tree will absorb about a pint or more of water in the first 24 hours.

Trees plentiful this season for Yuletide greenery

by LYNN ASINOF

Christmas tree lovers take heart. It's a good year for holiday evergreens.

"The demand is excellent, the supply is excellent, and the quality of the trees is the best I have seen in about three or four years," said Fred Metler, district manager of Frank's Nursery and Crafts, 250 Rand Rd., Arlington Heights.

The best news, however, is that the prices have not skyrocketed.

"They've gone up a little bit, but not substantially," said John Heaton, manager of Knupper Nursery and Garden Center Co. on Rand Road, Palatine.

INCREASED LABOR and transportation costs are being blamed in places where prices have increased. But most tree sellers say they raised prices because they opted for a better quality tree than last year.

Prices vary with the kind of tree, as well as size and shape. Scotch pines are the least expensive and the most popular. Long needled pines such as Norway pine are the most expensive.

The price of balsalms, the traditional Christmas tree, increases if the tree has been sheared to make it thicker.

Some of the lowest prices in the area are at Frank's, where all trees are $4.99, whether the tree is three feet or 10 feet tall. Prices there are up $1 from last year because tree farmers increased their charges, Metler said.

At most other nurseries prices start at about $3.50 for a small tree. A 6 or 7-foot Scotch pine will cost about $10, while a 7-foot Norway pine will cost about $15.

SOME NURSERIES sell Christmas trees that can be planted outdoors after the holiday, but few places recommend this method because of the high fatality rate.

"We don't believe in it," said Al Solomon, manager of Wheeling Nurseries, 642 S. Milwaukee Ave., Wheeling. He said people leave the trees indoors too long, allowing them to get used to the warmth. He said they die of shock when put outside.

Heaton said more than half of the trees planted after Christmas die. He said proper handling will increase the chances of survival, but not dramatically.

"You have to have a hole dug, and ideally you should put straw around it so it doesn't freeze," he said. "The tree should only be inside for three to four days. Before you put it back outside, you should set it in the garage to acclimate to the cold weather."

Most tree sellers said people should shop soon to get the best tree selection.

"If they want good trees, the selection will probably be at a peak this coming weekend," Al Goebbert of Klehm's said.

Feet up, feet down, students cross-country round town

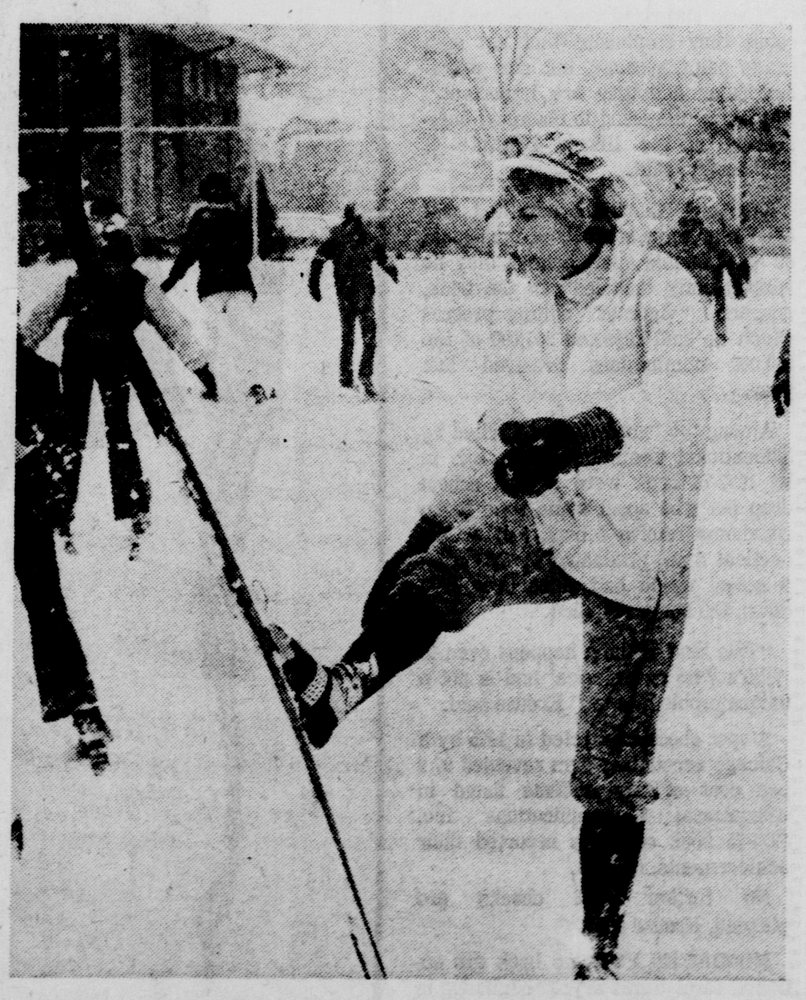
Students taking their first cross-country skiing lessons spent almost as much time on their stomachs as on their feet this week, but no one seemed to mind.

After an hour of lessons, they had mastered the basics of the sport — striding, maintaining balance and getting up after a fall.

Given at Thomas Junior High School, Arlington Heights, the skiing lessons are part of an effort to interest students in lifetime sports. Earlier this year, the students learned racquetball.

Prior to donning their rented skis, poles and boots, the Thomas students saw a film about cross-country skiing and listened to a lecture on the origin of the sport and the different equipment available for it.

The skiing lessons are given by Richard Spirek of Bikes Plus, Arlington Heights, and Joan Schaefer, physical education teacher at Thomas.



FALLING WAS no disgrace for first time cross-country skiiers at Thomas Junior High School in Arlington Heights. Hour-long lessons were given to some 180 sixth, seventh and eighth graders Monday, with more students to receive lessons during the next three weeks.

STUDENTS AT Thomas Junior High School had no complaints about Monday's snow and cold temperatures. The winter weather was exactly as ordered by the school's skiiers.

What's what with Who's Who? Not much: study

by SHERYL JEDLINSKI

A listing in "Who's Who" is considered a mark of influence and prestige.

But not all "who's who" type publications can put you in the snob set.

The publisher of "Who's Who Among American High School Students," for example, readily admits he is not in the business of putting out a directory of the finest straight-A students in the country, but rather in recognizing "good students" who otherwise would go unrecognized.

The value of recognition afforded by such publications, however, is questioned by educators who say it is not likely to serve any educational purpose.

ONE SUCH BOOK publisher educators criticize is Educational Communications Inc., Northbrook, publisher of "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

While subject to criticism, Educational Communications, Inc., is operating within the low and makes good Gilbert R. Weldy, principal of Niles North High School in Skokie, who this year completed a six-month study of some 25 recognition books. His report is titled, "What's What with Who's Who."

"Students should realize that they might be on the same page with the most outstanding — or the most ordinary — young people in the nation and that there is no way of knowing for sure," concluded a 1975 study of Educational Communications Incorporated's book conducted by Educational Products Information Exchange, a New York City based consumer group.

The high school who's who literature advises that nominees for its publication should meet at least one of 14 qualifications including maintaining at least a B grade point average; being a school honor society member, a varsity athlete, a varsity cheerleader, a class officer, a student council representative, an editor of a school publication or an officer of a major school activity; receiving at least a commended ranking in a scholarship program; or showing unusual achievement or involvement in a youth, church or community program.

HALF TO three-quarters of the students would qualify for the book under the criteria, Weldy said.

Paul Krouse, Educational Communications, Inc., owner, said meeting one of the selection standards qualifies a student for "minimal consideration," but does not guarantee inclusion in the book.

Final selection is based on a numerical rating. Students must have a rating of 100 he said.

Valedictorians, salutatorians straight-A students and students winning a varsity letter in four or more sports are rated 100, Krouse said.

He declined to say how many points are given for other achievements, saying students are less inclined to pad applications if they do not know the selection process.

SIXTY-NINE per cent of the students listed in the 1975-76 high school who's who have A grade point averages, and 28 per cent have B averages, Krouse said. The average student lists 8.5 activities or awards.

Many students, however, list only one or no activities and do not appear to be the well-rounded individuals Krouse said his book recognizes.

Robert Absil said he participated in no extracurricular activities at Arlington High School but was listed in who's who during his junior and senior years.

"I was surprised they chose me because they emphasize that not only grade point average, but also extracurricular activities are important," Absil, now majoring in chemical engineering at the Illinois Institute of Technology, said.

KROUSE READILY admitted that each year some studnets of "marginal or questionable qualifications may be inadvertently included" in the book, despite a "vigorous" editing process which he said rejected 205,000 of the 500,000 nominations received last year.

Among the "good students" cited by Educational Communications, Inc. in its 1972-73 book were a high school drop out who spent some time in an Oklahoma reform school, and a Connecticut man, graduated in 1967 from a school which had since been torn down, the study revealed.

"This kind of thing happens even to 'Who's Who In America' and is not a unique problem to us," Krouse said.

A spot check conducted in 1975 by a Chicago accounting firm revealed 97.2 per cent of the students listed in Educational Communications Inc. 1974-75 book correctly reported their achievements, he said.

No further spot checks are planned, Krouse said.

NOMINEES FOR the book are solicited thret times a year beginning in early September, with mailings sent to 24,000 public, private and parochial high schools and to some 6,000 churches, civic and service groups, scholarship organizations, state educational departments and youth program sponsors, Krouse said.

Krouse said 40 per cent of the nominations received come from high schools with the rest submitted by other organizations.

Administrators in high school districts 207, 211 and 214 said they do not release students' names to publishers of recognition books not included on the National Assn. of Secondary School Principals' advisory list of contests and activities. The principals' group warns the recognition afforded by these publications is questionable and not likely to serve any educational purpose.

Educational Communications, Inc., sends students order blanks for their $19.95 who's who book when advising them of their nomination, but emphasizes no purchase is necessary to be named in the book.

THE MAJORITY of students listed in the book never buy a copy, Krouse said. One Forest View High School graduate said she never even looked to see what had been written about her in Educational Communications Incorporated's 1974-75 edition.

Students who see the book find their biography appears on a page with those of 125 other students. Alphabetically arranged the biographies include the student's name, high Sschool, rank in class, activities, college choice and career preference.

The information is heavily abbreviated and a two-page glossary is needed to decipher it.

At the back of the book are yearbook like photographs supplied by students who paid a $3 processing charge to havt them printed. Forty-two-¾ by 1-inch photographs fill each page.

INSPIRATIONAL ESSAYS provided by some 26 contributing editors, who is 1974-75 included actress Marlo Thomas and FBI director Clarence M. Kelly, are at the front of the book to impress students and parents, the consumer group's study said.

The contributing editors list works like "a revolving door," with prominent persons agreeing to write essays gratis the first year, and then asking to be removed from the list after receiving consumer complaints, the consumer group's study found.

Krouse, however, says some 15 prominent persons, including Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., have served as contributing editors for more than two years.

Although Educational Communications, Inc. sends order blanks for complimentary copies of who's who to 7,500 main branch libraries in the nation, the only Northwest suburban libraries which carry it are the Arlington Heights Memorial Library and Elk Grove Village Public Library.

"IT'S OF VERY little value," Tim Sullivan, Schaumburg reference librarian, said. "It's only of interest to the people whose names are in it."

According to the North Suburban Library System's April 1975 newsletter, the book "does not seem a worthy addition to either home or library collections."

Krouse said this philosophy "penalizes" students by depriving them of maximum recognition and the opportunity to conveniently view the book without financial obligation.

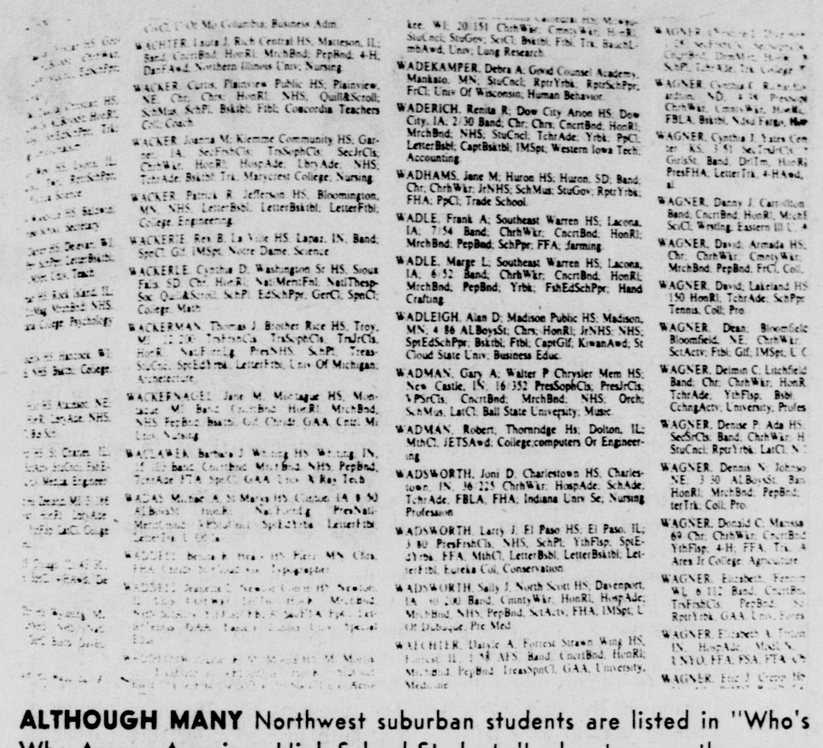
Despite educators' criticisms, Krouse said his is a profit-making organization that has done no wrong.

HE POINTED to Weldy's statement in "What's What With Who's Who" that "At their best, who's who publishers are legitimate, shrewd businessmen capaitalizing on the need for recognition and self esteem."

By funding or sponsoring a free book program, a grant program for youth organizations, a college referral service, an annual survey of student opinions and a $35,000 scholarship program, Krouse believes he has developed a "comprehensive and meaningful program executed in a professional manner.

"We regret that some individuals may demean these programs because they are operated by an organization from the private sector," he said.

Whether a listing in "Who's Who Among American High School Students" is worthwhile or not depends on what students are seeking, Educators said. If all they want is a book with their name in it and they are willing to pay $19.95 to get it, students probably will not be disappointed. If they are expecting more from the listing, however, they should think twice.



ALTHOUGH MANY Northwest suburban students are listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students," educators say the recognition afforded by the book is of questionable value and not likely to serve any ultimate educational benefit.

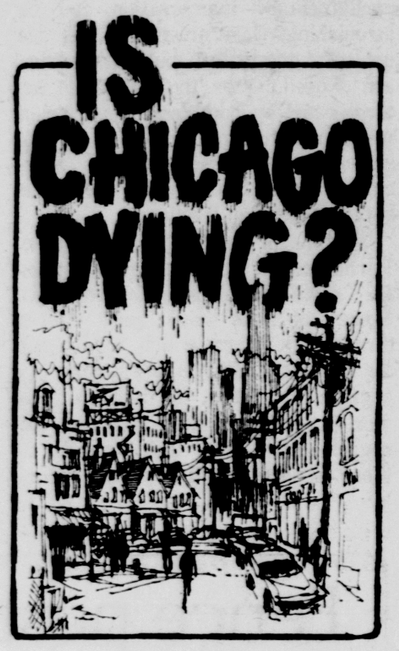
Real estate agents spark fear as city turns black

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series by a team of UPI reporters on the deterioration of the nation's great cities. Gregory Gordon and Albert Swanson for five months examined the slums and changing neighborhoods of Chicago, the nation's most segregated city and today report on the myth of open housing.)

by GREGORY GORDON and ALBERT SWANSON



The small, neat bungalows at the eastern fringe of Marquette Park were gaily decked with Christmas lights and holly in December of 1974.

For two black families the neighborhod bathed in Yuletide cheer seemed an answer to their dreams for a better place to live — an escape from the slum conditions of the South Side of Chcago.

"Peace on earth, good will toward men . . ."

Then came the firebombs.

Before either family could settle into their new homes, there would be terror attacks by whites desperately trying to resist racial change. Civil rights laws had long been in effect, but the promise of open housing would prove to be a myth.

The two families were the first blacks to buy homes in a 34-block strip at the edge of the white, ethnic neighborhood of Marquette Park, a sprawling working class section that separates the inner city from the southwest suburbs.

IT WAS ONLY one week before a firebomb sailed through the living room window of Lillian Brisco's new home. Within five days of the arrival of L. B. Turnipseed and his family, night riders burned their garage.

This would be a clssic war of racial prejudice and fear.

Government policies, banks, insurance companies and the business community would define the battleground.

Busy real estate agents and mortgage investors would reap the bulk of the spoils.

Today, less than two years later, half of the whites in the 1,100-home area have fled. Many of the remaining white-owned homes are for sale.

It is a familiar pattern in Chicago, America's most segregated city.

It happens every time a few blacks escape the black zone of the South Side and buy homes in the white perimeter. Suddenly the whites are on the run and the fringe area turns solid black.

The forces of change were taking their toll on the section east of Marquette Park.

First, there was disinvestment. Insurance companies, lending institutions and businesses turned away from the area, seeking brighter investments. City services declined, clogged sewers were left unattended, aged street curbs cracked and crumbled and street sweepers and tree trimmers were seldom seen.

With the banks and savings and loan companies disinterested, homebuyers turned to the government for mortgage insurance. And with government standards relaxed, buying a home became, as one federal official put it, "easier than buying a new car."

IN THE FRINGE area of Marquete Park, more than a dozen homes were abandoned and boarded up, a temptation for vandals and arsonists.

The neighborhood was on the way down and the time was right for the realtors to go to work.

A changing neighborhood means big money for real estate agents, however.

United Press International examined 300 sales transactions in the area east of Marquette Park, interviewed more than 120 home buyers and sellers and sent whites and blacks to 14 real estate offices posing as prospective home buyers.

All of the evidence indicates real estate agents played the biggest role in turning the neighborhood from white to black.

Today's methods are more sophisticated than the outlawed "blockbusting" of the past. They include solicitation and advertising campaigns and the tactic called "racial steering," forbidden under the 1962 U.S. Civil Rights Act.

RACIAL STEERING was widespread in the Marquette Park area. This is how it worked:

- Until the first blacks moved in, white real estate agents sold homes in the area only to whites or Spanish-speaking people. They waited until black realtors sold to the first blacks.
- Once the change began, dozens of Realtors set up offices near the area and concentrated on peddling homes to blacks. They avoided showing homes in the changing area to whites. They offered no listings in nearby white areas to black buyers.
- Most Realtors in the adjacent all-white neighborhood sold no homes to blacks, limiting the selection for blacks to the changing area.

LILLIE BRISCO was carefully inspecting the seven-room house for sale when she heard the sirens grow louder and the fire trucks screech to a stop outside. The tall, attractive, 43-year-old black woman looked for smoke or some sign of a fire. Then it hit her.

There was no fire. This was her greeting from the white neighborhood.

Despite the incident, Mrs. Brisco, a shipping clerk who earns $13,500 a year, bought the house and became the first black to move into the area. She had lived in black West Englewood where her home had been robbed four times.

She went to M. L. Barnes Realty, a black-owned firm, to buy a new house.

At about the same time, a white family of four was seeking to sell their cozy seven-room house across the railroad tracks that for five years had served as a natural barrier between the races.

The house was the fourth that Barnes Realty showed Lillie Brisco. She put $1,600 down and bought it with a $21,400 VA-insured mortgage.

A few days after she and her son Dexter, 26, moved in, a firebomb smashed through their front window.

A FEW DAYS later, the Turnipseeds moved in, giving hostile whites a new target.

Some whites were racist, identifying the arrival of blacks with the onset of slum conditions.

Some sellers were afraid their property values would drop. But most expressed a different fear — a fear that all their white neighbors would move away.

More than half of 42 former owners interviewed said they would have stayed if the area were stable and integrated. Some even said they preferred a mixed neighborhood.

Once the change began, the story was different. Of 33 former residents who discussed the subject, only four said white buyers were brought to see their homes. Of 75 black buyers, all but one said they were given listings in only all-black or changing areas such as the eastern fringe of Marquette Park.

UPI SENT WHITES and blacks masquerading as buyers to 14 realtors in the area, each time asking for the same price range in a brick bungalow.

In 11 cases, the whies were given listings in the white areas west of Western Avenue and the blacks were not.

No sooner had the Briscos and the Turnipseeds moved in than their white neighbors' telephones started ringing.

The callers were Realtors.

Panic began to spread. It was agitated by violence.

Five days after the Turnipseeds moved in, their garage was set on fire. For six weeks, vandals hurled rocks through their windows and smashed their car's windshield. The Turnipseed's next door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Foster, grew worried.

Foster suffered from a nervous condition. His blood pressure rose.

The Fosters became even more upset when the Turniseeds' teen-age sons began to make approaches toward their daughter.

"Our doctor advised us to move," Mrs. Foster said.

THE WHITE FLIGHT had started. Within a year and a half, hundreds of houses would be sold, earning Realtors and mortgage bankers huge profits.

The solicitors picked up their pace.

Ten of 38 former owners said their Realtor approached them first. Eight said neighbors referred them to their Realtor. At least one Realtor offered money in exchange for further listings.

On Aug. 23, 1975, black activists tried to march down 71st Street right past the Turnipseed home to dramatize the need for open housing.

That day somebody tossed a firebomb into the Turnipseeds' back yard.

There was another march in October 1975. The same night a brick broke the Turnipseeds' front window.

Winter brought an end to the violence, but a family tragedy hit — Turnipseed and his older son, L. B. Jr., were killed by carbon monoxide poisoning while they worked on a car in a closed garage.

MRS. TURNIPSEED made up her mind to sell the house and buy a smaller home.

But she was still living there April 13 when she heard a living room window break at 3:30 a.m. She got out of bed to assess the damage.

"My curtains were on fire," she said. "Whatever they threw through the window, it had to explode."

Firefighters said the blaze was started by faulty wiring.

Mrs. Turnipseed and her children had moved to a motel July 15 when another fire broke out in the house. Firefighters again blamed faulty wiring even though the electricity had been turned off.

Frankie Turnipseed now lives in an apartment in a high rise housing project. She stays inside most of the time and doesn't make her phone number or address known. She doesn't want to go back to the house anymore.

Decision on B-1 bomber should rest with Carter

The tranquil transition to the Carter Administration was jarred last week by a defense department decision to spend another $704.9 million on the controversial B-1 bomber.

The expenditure, a small part of the $22.9 billion total price tag for the program, was one that the Ford Administration should have delayed.

The decision to go ahead with the expenditure puts the government another step away from halting development of a costly and possibly unnecessary addition to the nation's arsenal.

Pentagon officials argued the new spending was needed to begin production on three models of the plane and additional equipment for other planes.

The Pentagon announced that a provision was included in the development plans to give President-elect Jimmy Carter more time to make a final decision on production of all 224 of the planes.

The Ford Administration should have left the decision to Carter and his advisers.

During the campaign, Carter stated he would halt development of the B-1 program as part of his effort to slash defense spending. Now Carter's spokesman, Jody Powell, said Carter has made no decision on continuation of the program but will wait until he is inaugurated until taking an official stand.

If Carter hopes to cut federal spending and achieve a balanced budget during his first administration, some major steps are needed.

The aging B-52 fleet must be replaced. Possibly a combination of new fighter planes and cruise missiles would give the nation an adequate defensive capability more economically than the B-1 plan. In any case the commitment to any new system should be made by the incoming president.

Should Carter personally reply to Congress' queries?

by TOM TIEDE
A commentary

WASHINGTON — It should come as no surprise that Jimmy Carter is, cross his heart, vowing unprecedented cooperation with Congress during his presidential term. Every executive since Mr. Washington has made the pledge. One can't very well begin service in the White House by saying Congress is a collection of scoundrels, the foster child of special interests, which should be quietly ignored.

And yet such promises have about them the stuff of gossamer fantasy. It's remembered that Jerry Ford promised love, honor and obedience to Capitol Hill, then became the most prolific user of the veto in history. Gentle words aside, most presidents feel, as did Andrew Jackson, that they must secure both liberty and the "integrity of the Constitution" against the Senate, the House, or both.

So it is that the feud between the executive and legislative branches has become the longest continuously sardonic crap game in town. Seventeen presidents have served in the House, 16 have been in the Senate, and 10 have had membership in both bodies, but over the decades even the familiarities have served to breed contempt.

IN SOME RESPECTS the contempt is healthy. The division of strength is the taproot of democracy. But it can also beget excess, which may beget isolation, which may beget a crippled system. Carter knows this well; as governor of Georgia his contempt for his legislature led in the end to near paralyzing leadership confrontations.

It is in an effort to avoid past mistakes, then, that the president-elect is opting for a better idea. Already he has given his private telephone number to dozens of congressmen. And he's talked of bipartisan consultation. Of more interest, however, and meaning, is his assurance that members of his cabinet will be required, when invited, to go to Congress to respond to questions and demands.

The cabinet commitment seems solid enough. Carter is not suggesting his lieutenants appear merely for cozy committee meetings. He says he will direct them to appear before "joint sessions of Congress, preferably with national television coverage." Quite bold. And unique. Besides, the plan is unusual in that it is somewhat of a steal from another — i.e., parliamentary — form of government.

IT MAY BE THAT Carter's thoughts for this proposal were formed the first time he saw the parliamentary system in action. That was in 1973, on a visit to London. Carter toured Parliament, and was apparently impressed by the body's "question hour" when either the prime minister or members of his cabinet are challenged in the chamber.

For an American observer, used to the blahs of congressional debate, the parliamentary interrogation can be astonishing. Government officials are not only questioned, but on occasion are abused. Often the assault is accomplished by both friend and foe of the administration. Fisticuffs are not unprecedented. When he gets especially raucous the Speaker will rescue order by clearing the floor.

In spite of the risks to etiquette, Parliament is a continuing fascination for some legislators in America. Scores of bills have been offered through the years which would raid the mother country's lawmaking apparatus for ideas. In fact Carter's vice president, Walter Mondale, has suggested the U.S. "look carefully at those aspects of the parliamentary system which can be creatively adapted (to our own)."

THE ADOPTION proposals have inevitably failed to attract wide interest here, however. Chauvinism rather than logic is a reason. "If the founders had wanted to copy from Britain," said a solon of some years past, "they'd have invited King George's suggestions." Still in all, Carter's idea may give rise to more reasoned interest.

Even now there are private opinions in Congress that the new executive might do well to expand his plan. To occasionally appear himself for congressional inquiry. And it's not a bad notion. Whatever the good intentions of new presidents, history indicates they soon enough become dangerously insulated, which is to say imperialistic. There's nothing like the third degree to renew one's humility.

There's some good in the news

There are needy families in our area, but with the help of local residents and organizations, these families were able to enjoy a plentiful Thanksgiving dinner.

We at Schaumburg Township would like to thank the Hanover Park Lions Club, the Hoffman Estates-Schaumburg Welcome Wagon, the Exchange Club of Schaumburg, the Hoffman Estates Jaycees, Cub Scout Pack 392, ORT, the Presbyterian Church of the Cross, the First Christian Church, and Cub Scout Pack 199 for their donations of canned goods and Thanksgiving baskets, all of which were distributed to families throughout Schaumburg Township.

Without the efforts and desires of these groups, it would have been impossible for many families to know the bounty of a Thanksgiving dinner.

In recent weeks I have read many letters to the editor in which words of thanks were accorded to the many volunteers who staffed their town's swine flu clinics. That is all well and good.

As the coordinator of the swine flu clinic for the Village of Palatine, I would also like to publicly thank the more than 300 people who worked so efficiently at our flu clinic at Harper College on November 11-14. A very special thanks is in order to both the Palatine Nurses Club, and the Palatine Paramedics. They provided the professional means whereby just under 10,000 doses of vaccine were administered in a village whose total population is approximately 30,000.

The people of Palatine too are to be congratulated! They should indeed be proud to know that their ratio of injectees to non-injectees is lower than any other suburban village in the Northwest Suburban Area, and may very well be the lowest in the entire Cook County Area.

Bureaucrats duck president's control

by RAY CROMLEY
A commentary

WASHINGTON — Neither economy nor efficiency will be the major objective in President-elect Carter's upcoming moves to reform the federal bureaucracy.

Control is the name of the game.

At least three recent presidents — Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon — and a series of Cabinet officials have been angered or infuriated by their inability to have their orders obeyed by the rulers of small kingdoms scattered throughout the departments and agencies which run Washington and determine much of what goes on in the nation.

That is, a series of presidents and their aides have found that orders given are delayed interminably in execution or so modified as to be ineffective, or to produce a result diametrically opposite that intended.

MOST OF THESE powerful bureaucrats are extremely able. Though some have risen to high position on seniority alone, the majority have arrived there through expertise. They know the ins and outs of their domains so thoroughly that nothing moves up to senior officials or down to the action men without their approval, or indeed, without their imprint.

Many of these men and women have come to the conclusion that they, more than any president, cabinet official or other political appointee, know what should be done for the good of the country. Each has his own political philosophy, which may be radically different from that of an incumbent president.

In some cases, these key bureaucrats have built close alliances with influential senators or representatives or members of their staffs. They are thus able in many cases to assure that the laws passed will meet their needs and conform to their beliefs. Their budgets will pass readily with few changes.

THEY MAY ALSO profit personally. Those who cooperate closely with Congress sometimes find that promotions come their way despite opposition from superiors in the department in which they work. Admiral Rickover is a well-publicized case in point.

This is not to say that these men and women are basically self-serving. Some are, of course. More, I believe, are not. They simply believe that, because of their experience, they are right.

CONGRESSMEN COME to depend on these strategically placed kingpins. For one thing, the bureaucrats know what they are doing and congressmen usually do not. The insert of a paragraph here or there in proposed legislation can save a senator or representative headaches later.

Then too, there is frequently a personal payoff for cooperative congressmen. If a legislator wins the approval of a powerful bureaucrat, he can count on favors. For constituents, there will be job openings, special consideration in applying a federal law or access to hard-to-get information. The congressman and his staff can also profit by the ready opening of doors that otherwise would be closed, or in being spared checks and inspections that could otherwise be embarrassing.

SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER once suggested that key bureaucrats be shifted from one department to another from time to time in order to break the power that each wields in his kingdom.

Under present law, about the only effective method for bringing about such transfers — thereby breaking cliques — is by reorganizations, even when such result in new departments and organizational structures no more efficient than the old.

Despite the favorable statements which followed Mr. Carter's recent visit with Congressmen, the new president is almost certain to find that when things get down to the nitty gritty his plans for reorganization will be so modified he will have far less power over the federal establishment than he desires.

Good politics, good government

The Cook County board's decision to cut the assessment level on homes and small apartment buildings from 22 per cent of market value to 17 per cent is proof that good politics sometimes can be good government.

The change in the assessment level should not be confused with a property tax cut. It will, however, soften the tax blow this year in Wheeling and Palatine townships when property is reassessed.

Cook County Assessor Thomas M. Tully proposed the change back in September when he warned that unless the assessment level was cut back an average homeowner might expect an increase of $500 in real estate taxes. It was good publicity for the assessor to come out the friend of the county's 900,000 homeowners and voters.

After three public hearings on the plan, county commissioners also recognized the political and practical values of the proposal. They passed it unanimously.

The objection that school and park districts, already at their maximum tax rates, will suffer by the cutback was answered when Tully's office showed that total assessed values throughout the county still will go up because of inflation and new construction.

So instead of an inflationary windfall, governmental units will get a realistic increase in their tax base while the homeowner escapes a potentially staggering tax increase.

Public employe gift ban praised

Many local governmental bodies have established guidelines for employes which prohibit them from accepting holiday gifts from government suppliers.

The guidelines are a positive step toward assuring that employes do not take advantage of their tax-supported positions, making them subject to disciplinary action if they do. We applaud the move by those taxing districts and urge others who have thus far been unwilling to draft similar guidelines to do so.

A written policy is the best way to guard against the appearance of favoritism in governmental purchases. Rules governing the acceptance of gifts by public employes serve notice to those employes that they should not allow themselves to be placed in a compromising situation. As harmless as accepting such gratuities may seem, it is in the best interests of taxpayers for those who serve on the government payroll to avoid them.

OPEC leader predicts price hike

The president of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries predicted Tuesday that OPEC will increase its price of oil this month. "Personally, I think there will be an increase," said Mohammad Sadli, Indonesia's minister of mines. Asked how much OPEC might increase oil prices at its Dec. 15 meeting, Sadli said: "I'm not a fortune teller."

"One minister is hoping for less than 10 per cent," Sadli told a National Press Club breakfast. "Others are hoping for more."

Sadli said the views of President-elect Jimmy Carter will be considered by the OPEC members.

"Whatever Mr. Carter will say, we will listen and some of us will take it into serious consideration," Sadli said. "The United States is the most important part of the world economy. The state of your economy helps determine that of the rest of the world."

Sadli was asked how important were the views of the Ford administration, which last week stated that no price increase was justified.

"I don't want to say anything about an outgoing administration," he said. "The price of oil will be decided on its own merits, on the basis of supply and demand." And, he said, OPEC will consider "the state of health of world markets."

Oil shieks complicate plot to divide their pie in the sky

Speaking dollar-wise
by Robert S. Rosefsky

Act Two: Sheik Kher-ah-seen's tent, three years later. He is joined by Prince Ibn Ahd, the Emir of Halavah, and the Grand Mufti of Qaql. They sit cross-legged on the hoods of white Cadilac Eldorado convertibles whose tires have been removed for greater stability. They are in heated discussion.

Kher-ah-seen: Gentlemen, we must reach a conclusion. Our colleagues in the other oil-producing countries are anxious to know what we, the major producers, wish to do about raising the oil prices still higher.

Ibn Ahd: Yes, yes! Raise them! Raise them! Higher! Higher! Ho ho! Ha ha!

Halavah: Oh, shut up, Ibn! Qaql, I thought you promised to keep that raving nephew of yours locked up.

Qaql: I did. But his mother, my sister, and his father, my brother, insisted that he vote the family proxy at this meeting. Sorry about that.

Kher-ah-seen: Gentlemtn, enough bickering, please. We must decide. It's been three years since we put on the Big Ticket, and the Americans are asking for it again. They're out buying big cars and shunning the smaller ones. Are they tempting us to raise our prices so that they in turn can raise the prices of the things we buy from them — the tanks and the whole-wheat bread and the missiles and the beer? What's their game?

Halavah: It's no game. They're buying the bigger cars because gasoline has become so cheap.

Qaql: Cheap? But it's double the price it was before the Big Ticket went on.

Halavah: True, but it's much less than it was after the Big Ticket. Then they had to wait in long lines and pay 70 cents and more per gallon. Today there are no lines and a gallon is only 50 to 60 cents. So to them it's cheap. They have short memories. I say raise the prices again.

Kher-ah-seen: We must all agree to hold the line on prices for the sake of stability in the world.

Qaql: You are a traitor to the cause, Kher-ah-seen! Your reserves are much greater than ours, and you look forward to the day when our supply will run out and you will lord it over us.

Halavah: Hypocrites, both of you! You cleverly purport to disagree when, in reality, you conspire to overthrow me. Don't tell me that's not so. My Russian advisers have told me!

Kher-ah-seen: Why you son of a jackal!

Qaql: Brother of a pig!

Halavah: Eye of a newt!

Ibn Ahd: (Amid the rage he unholsters a gun and kills his three colleagues. His grim face quickly transforms into a hearty laugh as he realizes his new-found power.) Yes, yes! Raise them! Raise them! Higher! Higher! Ho ho! Ha ha!

End of Act Two.

Workers to vote on UPS-union pact

Some 18,000 striking United Parcel Service employes will vote Thursday on a tentative contract agreement that could end the lengthy walkout that tied up pre-Christmas shipping on the East Coast, it was announced Tuesday. Parcel Service officials refused to predict when the workers might return to work if the striking workers accept the contract offer. The Teamsters union, which represents the striking workers, announced the union negotiating committee and officers of 74 striking local unions will recommend membership acceptance of the tentative proposal. Neither the union nor the company would disclose the terms of the proposal. If the strikers accept the new offer Thursday, company officials promised to announce immediately when shipping will resume in the 15-state East Coast area that has been strikebound since Sept. 16.

'Industry may build too many cars'

Despite strong end-of-November sales, trade sources say the auto industry's plans to build nearly 2.6 million cars in the first three months of 1977 may be a bit optimistic. The trade publication Ward's Automotive Reports says the industry will exceed the 2,179,000 cars built in the first quarter of 1976, but not by the presently forecast 18 per cent. If the four U. S. automakers do build the 2,578,000 cars they now project, the first quarter of 1977 will rank as the second highest January-March quarter in history. The record was the 2,708,000 cars the U. S. automakers built in the first three months of 1973.

Agency blamed in mine disaster

Poor enforcement of federal standards by the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration was partly to blame for the Scotia coal mine disaster which claimed 26 lives, a congressional report said Tuesday. A methane gas explosion on March 9 at the Kentucky mine killed 15 miners and two days later another explosion killed seven miners and four federal inspectors. The report said ultimate responsibility for the first explosion rests with the coal company, but that responsibility for the second blast rests with MESA.

Election of officers planned

The Northwest Suburan Ass. of Commerce and Industry, Inc., plans an annual meeting and election of officers Thursday at the Bon Ton Restaurant, Hoffman Estates. A social hour will start at 11:30 a.m. followed by a luncheon meeting.

GM, union settle in Canada

General Motors of Canada and the United Auto Workers Tuesday settled on a new three-year contract following a six-hour strike at the company's 11 Canadian plants. A GM spokesman said agreement was reached at 6 a.m. after two days of marathon bargaining at a Toronto hotel. About 10,000 of GM's 28,000 Canadian employes were off the job at the 12:01 a.m. strike deadline.

Alaska pipeline finished

Workers have finished laying the 800-mile trans-Alaska pipeline, and oil could begin flowing from the Artic North Slope by next summer. The last section of 48-inch pipe was laid in rugged Thompson Pass 20 miles northeast of the terminal at the port of Valdez, the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. reported. The first section was installed somt 20 months ago at the Tonsina River, about 55 miles north of where the final link was set in the $7.7 billion project.

Deere shows record earnings

Deere and Co., Moline, said Tuesday its earnings for fiscal 1976 exceeded $3 billion for the first time topping the fiscal 1975 figure despite a month-long strike by the United Auto Workers. But Deere president William A. Hewitt said earnings in the fourth quarter, when the strike occurred, were lower than a year ago. Total sales for the fiscal year, which ended Oct. 31, were $3.134 billion compared with $2.955 billion in fiscal 1975, Hewitt said. Net income in fiscal 1976 was $241.6 million compared with $179.1 million the year before. Earnings were 7.7 per cent of sales compared with 6.1 per cent in 1975. In the fourth quarter sales decreased 12 per cent to $714.3 million. Earnings were $36.1 million compared with $41.4 million the previous year.

S&L to open new office

A new full-service office of Arlington Federal Savings and Loan will open Thursday at 3148 Market Pl. in the Rolling Meadows shopping center. The new location is the seventh in the Northwest suburbs. Others are in Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Schaumburg, Lake Zurich and Arlington Heights. A drawing will take place a 7 p.m. Jan. 7 at the Rolling Meadows office for tours, dinners and Schwinn bicycles. The Rolling Meadows staff will be headed by Pamela J. Schoenborn, who joined Arlington Federal in 1976 after previous service at Mundelein Savings and Loan Assn. Mrs. Schoenborn is a graduate of Augustana College and lives in Mount Prospect.

Dow loses 1 pt., closes at 960

NEW YORK (UPI) — Blue-chip profit taking accelerated in the final hour Tuesday to leave prices mixed in the heaviest trading in six weeks on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, ahead nearly five points at the outset, lost 1.08 to 960.69.

The NYSE common stock index eased 0.01 to 55.63 and the average price of a common share slipped one cent. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, which includes some over-the-counter stocks, lost 0.07 to 103.49.

Advances, however, topped declines, 835 to 664, among the 1,952 issues crossing the tape. Analysts said that was the largest number of issues traded in months.

The volume of 26,140,000 shares, up from the 24,830,000 traded Monday, was the heaviest since 32,973,230 changed hands on Sept. 22.

Prices closed higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. The average price of an Amex share increased four cents. Volume totaled 2,860,000 shares, down from the 3,060,000 traded Monday.

Study urges attack on bogus IDs

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Justice Dept. study group Tuesday urged passage of stronger laws to counteract the increasing use of false identities by white collar criminals, smugglers, illegal aliens and fugitives.

The report by the Federal Advisory Committee on False Identification said bogus identity papers are now used in smuggling operations estimated to cost the government $1 billion a year, by illegal aliens whose activities cost the nation $12 billion a year and in business frauds costing $3 billion a year.

"In a recent FBI survey of 500 names of wanted persons chosen at random, all had active aliases and some had more than 30 identities," the report said.

"JAMES EARL RAY, Patty Hearst and countless other fugitives used false identification."

While urging a crackdown on false documents, the committee stopped short of recommending adoption of a national identification card, citing the cost of such a project and the risk of violating personal privacy.

The committee proposed federal and state laws making it a crime to make, sell, possess, alter, transfer, advertise for sale, use or even apply for federal and state documents for a fradulent purpose.

It urged the states to start matching birth and death records so as to stop criminals from using the birth certificates of deceased persons to obtain other identity documents.

THE COMMITTEE, representing the FBI, the Bureau of Vital Statistics, the Passport Office, state governments and several professional organizations, said false identification papers can now be obtained with ease.

It said some stores sell forged birth certificates, drivers licenses, passports and credit cards over the counter.

But most criminals avoid the risk of forgeries by fraudulently obtaining official documents, usually starting with the birth certificate of a deceased person, the report said.

With a birth certificate, it said, the criminal can get a real Social Security card and all the supporting documents he needs.

Quake awakens Yuma residents

YUMA, Ariz. (UPI) — Residents were jolted awake Tuesday by a moderate earthquake centered in the Gulf of California about 90 miles south of Yuma.

No damage or injuries were reported, and most residents treated the incident lightly.

The Yuma County sheriff's office received about 40 calls in 10 minutes after the tremor at 6:01 a.m.

"I told them if their house shook, then we had a quake," said the dispatcher, who said only a few of the callers expressed fear.

An off-duty police employe said: "It woke me up. I have a waterbed and there was a slight motion in the bed. I didn't think about an earthquake, I just went back to sleep."

Geophysicist Waverly Person of the National Earthquake Information Center in Golden, Colo., described the quake as moderate and said it had a magnitude of 5.5 on the Richter scale.

He said his office also received reports the quake was felt in parts of San Diego, Calif.

THE FIRST QUARTZ WATCHES MADE LIKE AN OMEGA.

Since 1952, when Omega first developed the revolutionary quartz-based printing timer for the Helsinki Olympics, we have been striving to bring this remarkably accurate method of timekeeping closer to your wrist.
Now the time has come.
The Omega Megaquartz is not only a watch of astounding accuracy, it's a watch worthy of the name Omega.
We weren't satisfied until we perfected the features which allow you to change the hour as you enter a new time zone without losing a fraction of a second, and also to adjust the second display to match international time signals.

Then to cap the Megaquartz collection, we produced the world's first wristwatch ever certified "Marine Chronometer." Its quartz resonator divides the second into 2,359,296 parts, making it accurate to within one second a month.
All Megaquartz watches are backed by the same craftsmanship and solid service that you expect from Omega.
We felt that the only way they could live up to your standard for an Omega is if they first lived up to ours.
All Omega Megaquartz watches are water and shock resistant. From $250. to $1850.

Ask Andy

Venus shines because of Sun's light

Andy sends the Encyclopaedia Britannica's 1976 Yearbook of Science and the Future to Peter Gross, 13, of Wichita, Kan., for his question:

WHY IS THE PLANET VENUS SO BRIGHT?

One of the most conspicuous objects of the evening or morning sky is the planet Venus. Sometimes it is brighter than the brightest star, and sometimes it dwindles to a dim speck and disappears. The reason for this, of course, is that Venus has the inside track in its orbit around the Sun, and travels its circuit in less time than the Earth does. It shines brightest in our sky just before and just after it passes us.

Because of its orbit, Venus is not seen during most of the night. We see it brightly shining in the evening, as it moves toward the Earth and is still east of the Sun. When Venus is on the same side of the Sun as the Earth, it is a scant 25 million miles away. However, its sunlit side is facing the Sun, and we view it as a thin, fuzzy halo. As Venus begins to move away from the Earth, toward the western leg of its orbit, we can see it in the early morning hours.

Although Venus is sometimes called the morning or evening star, we know it is not a star at all. Stars are heavenly bodies, like our Sun, that are seething, fiery furnaces. Benus is a planet, like Mars and Jupiter, and can be seen only because it reflects light from the Sun. It shines so brightly because it is our nearest planetary neighbor and also because it reflects about three-fourths of the sunlight it receives.

Venus has always been somewhat of a mysterious planet. Early in the 17th century when the first telescopes were trained on it, there were high hopes for startling discoveries. After all, only the Sun and the moon were brighter, and it was the closest planet to the Earth. Astronomers had visions of a planet similar to the Earth with seas, continents and other Earthlike features. Sad to say, the scientists were disappointed. All they could see was a mass of yellowish clouds. The planet lacked the spectacular rings of Saturn or the icecaps of Mars, and didn't even have any moons.

Since those first glimpses, Venus has remained a mystery. For although telescopes have been greatly improved, no one has yet seen the surface of the planet. Even in 1974 when Mariner X flew past Venus on its way to Mercury, dense clouds prevented so much as a peek at the Venusian surface.

Wisbey plays poetic gem

When Grey wrote, "Full many a gem of purest ray serene the dark unfathomed caves of Ocean bear," he wasn't referring to bridge. But today's hand as played by Leonard Wisbey in a club game at Bremerton, Wash., is one of those gems.

The first trick produced dummy's jack of spades and East's ace. Leonard ruffed and led a diamond to dummy's jack. East took his ace and could have spoiled South's play by any lead except a spade, but he did lead a low spade.

This gave Leonard his chance. He discarded a club. West was in with the king of spades and led his queen of clubs, but it was all over.

Leonard took his ace, cashed his king of diamonds, ruffed a diamond in dummy, led the 10 of spades, ruffed East's queen, played his ace of trumps, led his good queen of diamonds, ruffed it with dummy's last trump and discarded his last club on the nine of spades.

A Missouri reader was criticized for opening one notrump with:

Spade Q, J, 10. Heart A, 10, 8, 7. Diamond A, 7, 6. Club A, 10, 8.

There were only 15 high-card points in his hand.

We don't think the criticism justified. Those three 10 spots are worth a full point.

'Executive suite' actor acts young

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Stephen Elliott, who plays Howell Rutledge in the new "Executive Suite" series, is a man of 58 with young ideas.

Like many a younger person these days, Elliott shares his life with a woman without sanction of civil or church authority.

He and actress Alice Hirson have been together seven years, sharing a home in Westchester, N.Y., before moving to California last June when Elliott was cast in the CBS-TV drama.

They live in a rented condominium in Marina Del Rey a block from the Pacific with a stunning view of the ocean.

Because the series has a large cast with a dozen subplots, Elliott reports to work at MGM only two or three days a week. The easy schedule provides him with ample time to haunt auctions and antique shows with Alice.

Aside from acting, Elliott's two prime passions are tennis and oil painting. He does a lot of both.

On those days when Elliott does work, he starts in the makeup department, where he wakes up with a cup of coffee at 6:30 in the morning. More often than not he is finished by 5 p.m. and home in time for a home-cooked dinner.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Reduced naval strength threat to U.S.: Navy chief

HONOLULU (UPI) — America faces a threat "far greater than at the time of Pearl Harbor," Navy Sec. J. William Middendorf II said Tuesday in sunset services aboard the Arizona memorial commemorating the 35th anniversary of the Pearl Harbor attack.

"Your navy has been cut in half in the past six years, while the Soviets have been building a gigantic navy," the secretary said in an address.

Middendorf warned that there will be "no security for any of us if the military balance were to begin to shift against us."

THE "PERCEPTION of weakness" has been a major cause of wars in the past, he said in urging that the navy rebuild its fleet.

"Today your navy has 40 per cent fewer ships than it had at the time of Pearl Harbor, and we face a threat far greater than at the time of Pearl Harbor," the secretary said.

"Over the last decade the soviets have built 2½ times more submarines than we have; 30 per cent more major surface combatants, and eight times as many smaller ships below 1,000 tons. Their research and development effort is some 50 per cent greater than ours.

"Perhaps the most ominous part of today's threat is the blackmail potential which could come from the Soviet civil defense program. They have a nationwide organization composed of some 50,000 people whose efforts have provided a program estimated to be capable of sheltering a major portion of their urban population. Is it possible that, with their greater emphasis on civil defense, the Soviets place greater emphasis on their way of life than we do on preserving ours?"

MIDDENDORF SAID it will take five to 10 years to rebuild the U.S. navy.

Earlier, the first American of Japanese ancestry to become governor of a U.S. state said the nation must "never bow to tyranny."

At Punchbowl, the national memorial cemetery of the Pacific, Hawaiian Gov. George R. Ariyoshi addressed a commemorative service held to coincide with the time of the attack.

ARIYOSHI SAID some things about Pearl Harbor must be remembered for all time, and some must be forgotten.

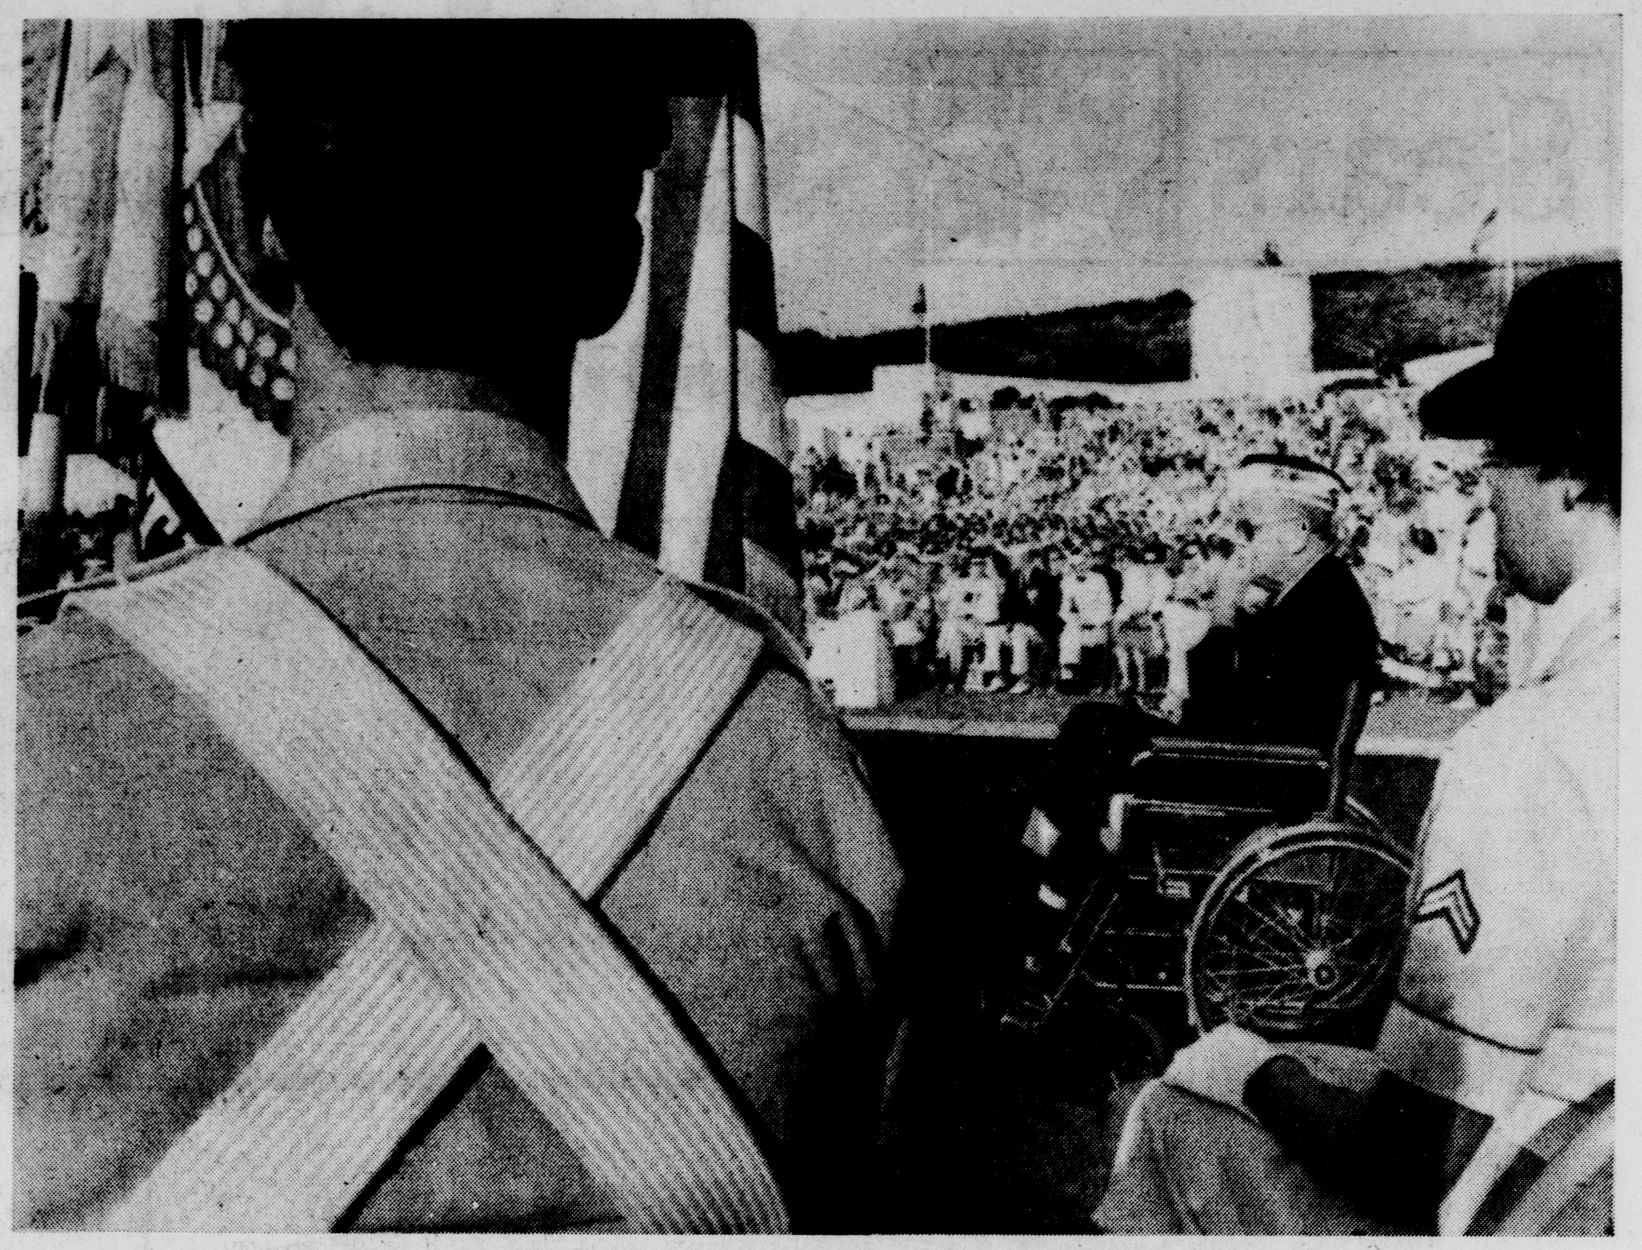
The courage, suffering and sacrifice of the surprise attack victims must be remembered, he said, "and we must remember the lesson of Pearl Harbor — never to bow to tyranny, never to capitulate to injustice or dishonor, never to flinch in the face of that stern law which requires us to defend ourselves against all who would do violence to our principles and our people."

Ariyoshi said the things that must be forgotten are hatred, vengeance, malice and unjustified hostility.

PEARL HARBOR naval base fell silent for one minute at 7:55 a.m. Tuesday in observance of the attack 35 years ago when 350 Japanese bombers and torpedo planes set the base aflame.

The observance was begun by the sounding of the naval shipyard whistle upon a signal from the naval base tower.

All commands had been invited to participate by asking their 23,000 military and civilian personnel to pause for the minute of reverence in memory of those who fought and died on Dec. 7, 1941.



Hundreds gathered Tuesday at Punchbowl cemetery for Pearl Harbor Day memorial services in Honolulu.

Time's getting short if you hope to book a flight

Travelers who have delayed making reservations for flights during the holidays will encounter difficulties in getting seats, airline officials say.

Travelers can "probably still get some space if they book right away," but they should be prepared to be flexible, said Marc Michaelson, public relations manager for United Airlines. Travelers will have to give up their choice of time and day of departure and take whatever seats are still available, he said. Flights on Christmas Eve are among the first to be booked, he said, but there are usually seats open on Christmas Day flights.

Persons wishing to book flights should call the airline tour desk or their travel agent as soon as possible, Michaelson said. Travelers intent on flying during the peak hours may have to fly stand-by, getting a seat only if there is a last-minute cancellation.

ART JACKSON, director of public relations for American Airlines, said the airline's busiest days this holiday season are Dec. 17, 18, 22 and 23, and Jan. 1-3. The most popular hours for departure are early in the morning and late in the afternoon. The economy night coaches also are booked quickly.

Travelers who wish to make reservations for flights during the holidays and avoid congestion at the airport should choose a flight that leaves in the middle of the day, Jackson said.

Larry Hilliard, Trans World Airlines representative, said holiday travelers should anticipate heavy traffic on highways near O'Hare Airport and long lines in the terminal by leaving for the airport earlier than usual. He also urged travelers who have changed their plans to cancel reservations immediately, allowing others to secure seats.

Some flights are not completely filled, said a spokesman for Delta Airlines, so travelers are still encouraged to phone for reservations. The airline has added extra fights on some of its more popular routes.

TWA MAY BE adding flights to its popular routes. American Airlines has already expanded its holiday service.

Persons planning to travel to some of the more popular winter destinations will have the most difficulty securing seats. United reports that most flights to the major Colorado ski resorts are booked and flights to Hawaii also are filling quickly.

Los Angeles, San Francisco and Phoenix are popular routes for American Airlines while Albuquerque and Wichita are among the busiest routes for TWA.

Trains will be busy too

Amtrak expects to carry its peak rail passenger loads of the holiday season on the four days preceding Dec. 24 and the four days beginning Jan. 1, said Philip J. Held, general manager of reservations.

Held urged travelers to be flexible in choosing departure dates if they wish to enjoy their holiday trip by rail. "The wise traveler now, as always, will make his reservations as far ahead as possible," he said.

Health care comes to patient at home

by ELEANOR RIVES

After six weeks in the hospital, Mary McPheron, 68, had had it. A circulatory disorder had led to the amputation of her left leg. She was depressed, not eating well, not perking up the way she should.

"I'm not a hospital type person," she said. A widow, she could return to her own Evanston apartment or to the home of her daughter, Marion Baumhart, who, with her husband and five children, lives in Des Plaines.

But Mrs. McPheron needed more care than a loving daughter could give — skilled nursing care, physical therapy, occupational therapy, special equipment.

That's when Suburban Home Health Service entered the picture.

IT'S A DIFFERENT Mary McPheron today — one who moves through her daughter's house in a wheelchair, whose eyes light up as the children return from school, who laughs as her 8-year-old grandchild helps her with her exercises.

She doesn't lack company. A registered nurse drops in to see her three times a week, a physical therapist three times a week and an occupational therapist twice a week. Her wound is healing well, her arms have gotten stronger, and she can walk a short distance with a walker. She made a Christmas decoration and is now working on a hooked rug.

Mary rents a hospital bed, a wheelchair, a walker, a bath seat, a bedside commode, an air mattress and a hospital bed.

An expensive program? Not at all. It's all covered by Medicare and administered by a home health care agency.

HOME HEALTH CARE, as provided by Medicare, is the treatment of persons in their homes rather than in hospitals or nursing homes. To qualify for the services, one must be 65 or older (or be disabled), be under the care of a physician and the physician must certify that his patient needs the services of a skilled nurse, a physical therapist or a speech therapist.

Those who receive any one or more of these services may then also have, if needed, occupational therapy, part-time services of home health aides, medical social services, nutritional guidance and medical supplies and equipment as authorized under Medicare.

Medicare Hospital Insurance provides home health care following hospitalization. Medicare Medical Insurance provides (after a $60 deductible) home health care to the homebound who were not hospitalized but have need of one or more of the three basic services.

If all that sounds complicated, don't let it scare you. A call to a home health agency will quickly set in motion the steps to determine the patient's eligibility. And — hallelujah! — the agency does all the paperwork.

TWO SUCH HEALTH agencies in the northwest suburban area are Suburban Home Health Service (SHHS), 2250 E. Devon, Des Plaines, and In Home Health Care Service (IHHS), 116 Eastman Center, Arlington Heights. Both are private, non-profit and approved by the N. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). They also are certified by the Illinois Department of Health.

SHHS has grown by leaps and bounds since its inception two years ago, and now cares for 160 clients. IHHS, barely a month old, is already providing care for 13 persons. Clients currently under the care of these agencies have such conditions as cardiac problems, strokes, fractures, arthritis, diabetes, emphysema, spinal problems and larynegectomy.

In Mary McPheron's case, her needs are met by a registered nurse, a physical therapist and an occupational therapist. Her initial move from hospital to home care was eased by a continued care coordinator.

If Mary's daughter were employed and gone all day, Mary could also have the intermittent help of one or more home health aides, supervised by the nurse, and trained to help with personal hygiene, preparation of meals, light laundry, grocery shopping, grooming, bathing and the like.

A STROKE VICTIM might also need the help of a speech therapist; a diabetic the help of a dietitian. In special situations, a medical social worker might help a patient to receive the benefits of other community resources.

Elizabeth Anderson of Cary, a registered nurse with SHHS, is Mrs. McPheron's nurse. She visits about 30 patients a week, reporting back to the office each day at the end of her rounds to file reports, communicate with doctors. One week each month she is "on call" — after 5 p.m. and over the weekend. And the first Thursday of each month, she attends a staff meeting.

"We all get together and chew out our problems," she said. "It's like fitting together all the pieces of a puzzle."

RITA O'NEIL, director of nursing at SHHS, said, "This is a rewarding type of nursing — you get involved in the family environment, you help the patient to accomplish his goals in life. It's primary nursing care — what you have been trained to do."

She added that salary is commensurate with that of hospital nurses, with the added attraction of regular daytime hours and freedom to get out and move from one place to another.

Pay for the home health aides is equivalent to that of hospital aides. The girls are put in a four-week training program, two weeks of theory in the office and two weeks of actual patient contact at Americana Healthcare Center in Arlington Heights or directly with patients at home, but under strict supervision.

"I have seen so many patients perk up, once they get home from the hospital," said Elizabeth.

BILL RINALDI, director of IHHS, pointed out that it must be remembered that this is a temporary service — intermittent skilled nursing for perhaps a period of three or four months. "Our whole purpose is to make the patient become independent again," he said.

Rita agreed. "Our goal is to stabilize the patient's condition to the point where he is able to handle his own regime. We act as an intermediary between the hospital and full independence."

Persons in the northwest suburbs who feel they might qualify for home health care may get more information about it by calling SHHS at 297-1100, or IHHS at 253-9850.

Women & children first – Page 2

SHE'S PERKING UP, now that she is out of the hospital and convalescing in her daughter's home. Mary McPheron, amputee, shows nurse Elizabeth Anderson her increased skill using a walker. Home health service under Medicare provides regular visits by a nurse and two therapists.

THEY HELP WHILE they learn. Supervised by Mary Ellen Leonard, R. N., rear, Syhrette Jones and Paula Nass, right, help Myrtle Personette at Americana Healthcare Center work with weights to strengthen her arm muscles. The girls are completing their training as home health aides.

Inexpensive decorating? Try paper

by DUSTY PILOT

Great balls of paper! When it comes to making inexpensive decorations, you can't beat the art of paper sculpture.

For instance, once you learn how to transform 20 circular pieces of paper into a geometric globe, you can turn last year's Christmas cards into a dazzling display for this year's holiday or make a 36-inch topiary tree for less than $1 or create colorful hanging lamp shades. In fact, the usefulness of these globes in decorating is unlimited.

Paper flower pot covers and decorative bowls are other paper sculpture possibilities.

Here's how to make a paper globe:

FIRST STEP: Using a compass, draw 20 circles (all the same size) on cover stock, construction paper or greeting cards. For a decorative edge, cut out the circles with pinking shears.

SECOND STEP: After cutting, fold each circle into an equilateral triangle. To do this, fold the edge of the paper to the exact center (marked by the compass point). Fold another portion of the edge to the center so that one end of each fold meets the other. Now fold the remainder of the edge to the center. The circular flaps around the triangles are used to attach the triangles together.

THIRD STEP: Glue or staple together the flaps of five triangles to form a pyramid. Then glue a triangle to each of the five flaps around the base of the pyramid. This will complete half of the globe.

Repeat this step with the remaining 10 triangles to make the second half of the globe.

FOURTH STEP: Glue the two half globes together, interlocking the triangles at the base of the pyramids.

To make a topiary tree use three paper globes. The top globe is made from circular piece of paper with a diameter of three and one-fourth inches. The middle globe requires circles four inches in diameter and the bottom globe requires circles five and one-fourth inches in diameter. Attach to 16- or 18-inch round dowel and insert in plastic foam base as stand.

Colored paper makes inexpensive decorations and can be turned into fancy bowls, baskets and chests following instructions in Dusty Pilot's Christmas Craft Book.

Order your own and gift copies today. The book costs only $1.50 each (includes postage and handling). Send check or money order with name, address and zip code to CHRISTMAS CRAFTS, in care of Paddock Publications, P. O. Box 489, Dept. J, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

BEND, CUT, FOLD or staple to make these inexpensive paper decorations. The hanging lamp shades, globe, paper topiary tree and plant holder cover are all made with circles of colorful paper.

The doctor says

Go easy on calories best advice for mom

My 21-year-old son recovered from a mild bout of hepatitis six months ago. Can you give me some information as to the correct diet he should have? He will be home soon, and I would not want to cook anything that might hurt him. Also, he said he seems to catch colds and sore throats rather easily. Can daily vitamins help him?

Like most young (and some not so young) people he does not eat properly anyway. What can I do to help him? Should he get a physical check up more often than once a year? He loves gourmet foods and enjoys wines. Take Christmas dinner: can he eat turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce, nuts, gravy, potatoes, yams, pie and roast beef? Can he eat spaghetti sauce — real Italian style?

From the sounds of your letter I am afraid your son's real problem will be to avoid being overstuffed with all that delicious food. Easy on the calories, mom!

Most people who have had hepatitis recover completely and can eat the same things everyone else eats. If there is residual damage, the doctor should advise him on any restrictions he might have. Most people with mild liver damage can eat all carbohydrates, should eat a normal amount of protein and are well advised to avoid excess fat intake. Extra proteins won't help.

A person needs only so many vitamins and a well balanced diet should provide them. For the individual who is not careful about his eating habits a daily all-purpose vitamin pill may be useful.

Liver damage and alcohol, in any form, do not mix. If your son has recovered completely and has no residual damage, he could have a moderate amount of alcohol, but remember it is toxic to the liver. And I meant what I said about the caloies — too many calories is the problem most people have.

To give you additional information I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-8, Living With Your Liver. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your request to me in care of Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 326, San Antonio, Tex. 78292.

You had in your column not long ago an article about drinking colas. You commented that it was not a very bad habit because colas are low in caffeine content. I have also heard that it is a bad drink because it is hard on the kidneys and stomach. I have stomach aches frequently, and if I drink colas it seems to make my stomach problem worse. I was wondering if it was really because of the drink, and if colas are bad for the kidneys and stomach.

For normal, healthy people a cola or two a day is not harmful. The group contains only a little caffeine, about a fourth as much as you get in a cup of coffee.

In sensitive people with acid stomach problems colas may be irritating. Also all soda drinks release gas, usually in the stomach, which increases the gas problem.

They have no effect on normal kidneys at all. The chemical balance mechanism of the body is such that it can adjust to a wide variety of acid or alkaline foods. The colas and other foods and drinks are broken down into simple substances before they can be absorbed into the blood stream. Only the simple compounds ever reach the kidneys.

Colas and other soft drinks between meals may be bad for your teeth, and so are all sweets, food and drink particularly if you don't brush your teeth at once.

Oatmeal cookie recipe what reader requested

Dear Dorothy: Sadly, in moving, one of the recipes that apparently has been lost was one for soft oatmeal cookies — containing raisins and dates. Do you have such a recipe in your file? —Mrs. J. E. Gralla

Yes, indeed. It's a favorite around this household and ideal for the holiday period. Cream one cup hydrogenated shorrtening with one and one-fourth cups light brown sugar. Add one cup of milk and three eggs. After this is mixed, add two cups of self-rising flour and one teaspoon of cinnamon and blend thoroughly. Next, fold in three cups of quick-cooking oats, one cup of cut-up raisins and three-fourths cup of cut-up dates. Drop the dough from a teaspoon on a cookie sheet and bake at 325 degrees for about 12 minutes. This recipe makes about 60 cookies. If it occurs to anyone that no salt is called for, remember that self-rising flour contains salt.

Dear Dorothy: Several months ago I accidentally upset a can of creosote on the garage floor. Could you tell me how I might now get rid of the stain? —Stanley G. Dalton

Within a few days of the spill you could have washed it off with clear water. Unless the concerte in your garage is extremely porous, it ought to come off now by scrubbing with a washing soda solution and then rinsing with clear water.

Dear Dorothy: Others may be interested in this. I had a pet stain on a velveteen garment and decided to experiment. Made a solution of warm water and white vinegar and dabbed at the stain several times, using a clean cloth. Not only did the stain disappear, but there was not a trace of water damage to the material. —Patricia Quail Faseinating. The experts all say this will never work!

Child support change up to court

Dear Attorney Martoccio,

What would happen if a husband decides to stop paying child support because he feels that he has been paying for too many years already. He believes that he's right because his children from his first marriage are all teenagers and can go to work (they don't go to school anymore).

Can the Illinois Department of Public Aid or the courts freeze our savings and checking acounts until they settle everything? I am worried about this because we have been married 12 years and have three children of our own to support. —Mrs. L. B.

Dear Mrs. L. B.;

Your husband is obligated to pay child support if the court so ordered. He may not, of his own accord, stop paying. If he should he is violating a court order.

The only way the present court order may be changed is by your husband's returning to court and pointing out what you have stated in your letter. He has a right to ask for a change of the order whenever there might be a change of circumstances. These changes may include the following:

- If the children are emancipated, (meaning that they are living apart and supporting themselves);
- If they are married, in the military services or have jobs of their own that provide a sufficient amount of money to support themselves.

Under these circumstances the judge will probably reconsider the child support order.

The court has a right to try to collect from your husband's assets, but it would be unlikely that the court would do this without first notifying him.

- Please remind him that if he isn't paying the amount of the child support order, it will keep accruing and he will have to pay it all in the future. This is true even though he might have a perfectly good excuse for not paying.

Having your lawyer to go to court for him to try to get the order changed will, in the long run, save you more expenses and headaches.

A letter from W.K.:

Several weeks ago, I found a gold 1947 high school graduation pin near our supermarket. I knew it was valuable and listened to my husband's advice that I contact the high school indicated on the pin in order to find the owner. Weeks and numerous telephone calls and letters later I traced him (through 20 years!). When he came to pick up the pin, all he said was, "Gee, am I lucky!" No offer of reimbursement for telephone calls, no reward. Nothing. Count me out when it comes to returning lost articles. From now on it's finders keepers.

Dear W.K.:

I'll bet it's not! You're a sentimentalist. Look at it this way. Would you want this ingrate to reshape your own personal standards of behavior? Would you let a thoughtless, selfish individual prevent you from doing a kindness for another person? Think it over. He may have the pin, but you have the "heart" and a big Brownie point that won't go unheeded when you turn in your chips for a pair of wings.

Toymakers educate parents on safety

The toy industry feels obligated to educate parents, especially new ones, about buying playthings for their children, says David Miller, president of the Toy Manufacturers Association.

Miller said major manufacturers have for years tagged toys to indicate the ages for which each is recommended. "It's like care labeling in apparel and home furnishings."

The final responsibility rests with parents, Miller said.

"What is fine and safe for a 10-year-old is not for a 5-year-old. Marbles are great toys, but not in a crib. Crayons are an ingestion hazard for infants and very small children. Even though they are nontoxic, they present a choking hazard.

"Even a bottle left in a crib can be a hazard if a child is left unattended. You have to be very, very careful with the nursery-age child."

HE SAID manufacturers spend millions of dollars on packaging to get their toy-safety message across.

The package legend on one soft toy his own company makes reads, in part:

"Crib toys are designed to amuse a new baby by sight and sound. They are durable, but can withstand only a limited amount of chewing or sucking and are not substitutes for teething rings or pacifiers.

"Until an infant has full body control there is risk in leaving any object, including a stuffed toy, within his or her reach when the infant is left alone.

"Use caution before hanging a crib toy directly above an infant, especially if other children have access to the nursery."

MILLER SAID mothers apparently do read such cautionary contents of toy labels.

"We find a tremendous awareness. Today's mother understands where her responsibility begins and ends. She wants to protect her children against the unforeseen. She holds manufacturers to very high standards."

He sees a heightened awareness in general for the safety of children.

Miller said the federal government has the mechanism to stop hazardous toys at the border before they are imported, but that the law "is enforced haphazardly. They look for the obvious: is the toy flameproof, is it toxic, does it have sharp edges?"

A reminder to brides

If wedding bells will soon be ringing in your family, we want to hear them, too.

The Herald reminds brides-to-be of the deadlines in effect for reporting wedding news. Full information is printed on forms available in all the Herald offices.

For detailed wedding story (including gown descriptions) information is due within three weeks following wedding date. Information received in Herald office after three weeks and up to five weeks following wedding date will be used for a brief story or caption.

Accompanying picture should be a black and white glossy close-up photo (bouquet and up) of bridal pair or bride alone. At the discretion of the editors and the Herald photo department, color photos may or may not be used, depending on color tones, contrast and clarity. Small snapshots are not acceptable.

We suggest the bride or some member of the family select a photo for the newspaper immediately upon receiving photographer's proof. Better yet — have the photographer make a selection and send it immediately to the Herald office. Any delay may mean missing the deadline.

If your photographer cannot comply with deadlines, write-up will be published without a photo providing information is in the Herald office before the deadline.

The bride who wishes her photo returned may pick it up at the Herald office at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights, or send along a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

There is no charge for publishing this news.

LIKE MAGIC!
Hammond Organs with exclusive note-a-chord™
Makes playing so simple it's almost magic.

This Hammond spinet features Reverberation, Vibrato, Auto Vari 28 (seven rhythms with 28 different pattern variations), Autochord and Note-A-Chord!
Here's what Note-A-Chord does for the beginning player:
Try One-Finger Chords. Press the Note-A-Chord button and any of the 20-One Finger Chords you touch will lock in place when played. With "Visual Memory", your eyes will tell you the chord you have played. You'll know immediately which chord to play next.
For Three-Finger Chords, simply press a button. Now, any three or four finger chord you play will lock in place. Other organs are limited by the number of chords available. With Hammond Note-A-Chord, any three or four finger chord in existence has "Visual Memory". Whether you play one finger or three note chords, the notes will lock in place. This frees your left hand to make rhythm or registration changes. No need to rush—Note-A-Chord is remembering what you've played.
Note-A-Chord with Autochord—another Hammond exclusive. It makes beginners sound like professionals. Autochord automatically provides alternating chord and pedal notes in any rhythm pattern selected. Choose any elaborate rhythm. It's yours automatically. Or combine rhythms for added variations.
Note-A-Chord is Hammond's new innovation that opens a new world of music for everyone. $1495

Cheshire, a growing division of Xerox, and a leading manufacturer of labeling and addressing systems, has solid growth opportunities within our manufacturing area. There's a lot going on at Cheshire, continual expansion — new product innovations, diversifications and successful marketing techniques. Join us — we've got a lot to offer you.
PLANT SUPERINTENDENT — We are seeking an IE, preferably degreed, with at least 5 years manufacturing experience in direct line supervision in a unionized, multi-product, low volume assembly and machining operation. Supervising 5 line supervisors, this is an ideal opportunity for a self confident individual who is ready to step right into a full scope of plant management responsibilities.
BUYER — Bachelor's degree in Business, or equivalent, and at least 3-5 years experience in the purchasing of complex electro-mechanical components. Additional experience in the purchasing of low volume sheet metal and stampings would be a definite plus. Qualified candidates should also be completely familiar with an MRP manufacturing system.
PRODUCTION CONTROL PLANNER — Business degree preferred, or equivalent, and at least 3-5 years production control experience in a manufacturing environment. Responsibilities will involve the planning and controlling of our manufacturing process. Familiarization with PIC and MRP manufacturing systems is essential.
We offer an excellent salary, complete Xerox benefits and outstanding opportunity for career and professional growth. Send resume in confidence, including salary history to or contact: 566-7880

Feeling of being trapped: survey

Young moms hit by depression

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Depression often strikes mothers of young children, but fathers don't seem to be bothered until the children get older, a University of Florida survey reveals.

The study shows "the mere presence of children" does not cause depression, but circumstances in a home may present conditions, such as the "trapped young mother" syndrome, that tend to bring on depression.

Mothers of preschoolers tend to be more depressed, Dr. Wallace Panides said Monday, releasing preliminary results of the survey, because they are often confined to their homes to care for the children. In additon, women tend to become involved in "significant struggles" during the early years of marriage and child-rearing.

ON THE OTHER hand, Panides said, men "often become increasingly depressed while the children are in the adolescent stages."

During the early years, Panides said, women learn ways to cope with their problems and adapt to the changes brought on by child rearing.

"Generally speaking, women become less depressed with time, while men tend to become more depressed," he added.

"Men generally begin to reevaluate their lives in later years, especially after age 50. They may look back and realize they didn't reach some of their major goals and at the same time realize they are no longer young enough to do something about it."

THE SURVEY involved 209 middle-class families living in the Tampa area, said Panides, an assistant professor of social work with the UF College of Medicine's Psychiatry Dept.

Panides indicated an answer to the depression problem is to involve the fathers in the child-rearing process and to get the woman involved in something outside of the home.

"Women need to be involved in a social network which gives them support, whether it be involvement with a church group or with a women's liberation group," he said. "They need a chance to be with other women in the same stage of the family life cycle."

Hobby keeps on growing

Model rail buffs right on track

UNION, N.J. (UPI) — The five red-shirted model railroaders tugged at their pin-striped engineer caps, jiggled toggle switches and scant two steam locomotives gliding past each other.

"It just doesn't fit into place without planning," Matt Falcko, of the Delaware Valley S-Gaugers, told youngsters, aged 3 to 80, ringing the 200-square-foot "pike" that occupied center place at the Sixth Annual Model Railroad Hobby Show at Kean College.

In model railroad parlance, a "pike" is a full layout from train and rails to sage brush scenery, and S-gauge-one inch equaling 64 feet of real railroad — is the craftsman's scale.

THE LINGO needed little elaboration for the 8,000 model railroad buffs who this weekend crowded the rail fest crammed with 45 display booths heaped with everything from cabooses to semaphore lanterns.

"Of course, we all started with trains under the Christmas tree," Bob Volk, 33, of Union, organizer of the two-day show, said. "I can still remember my first train. I was 3."

Model railroading began in Britain in the 1800s with mini-models first used in industry. A booth with finely detailed bronze locomotives made in Japan showed the hobby is still spreading along with interest in everything connected with the Iron Horse.

The breathy tones of a long muted locomotive welled from the tape recorder at one booth. Rail timetables from the 1880s lay on another stand, while a third was piled with snow-capped mountains in various plaster-of-paris stages.

TEN CARS OF a circus train — five of them bright yellow — graced the stand of Bob Hewison, 55, of Westfield, N.J., who made the 1925 train and stocked it with hand-carved lions, tigers and elephants.

Robert W. Berger, 29, of Fords, N.J., ran a piece of tape across a sleeper which he proceeded to air brush, or paint, aqua.

"It's similar to customizing a car," he said. "A railroad car doesn't come with piping, or braking or rigging."

"If you go further, a guy has to sit, right?" he said, extracting a miniscule red velvet chair from a plastic box atop his booth.

Crane picks service school panel

U.S. Rep Philip M. Crane, R-12th, has appointed a committee to help him review applications from local residents to the nation's service academies.

The committee will meet with applicants at 9 a.m. Saturday at Hersey High School, Arlington Heights.

The committee includes Rolling Meadows Police Chief Lewis Case; Sister Judith Cagney of Barat College; Donald Hillenmayer of Arlington Heights; Elaine Lethem, president of the Girl Scout Council of Northwestern Cook County; Mundelein Mayor Maurice Noll; Bob Barnhart of Deerfield; Dr. Edward Ryan of Barrington; Richard Felicetti, principal of Elgin High School; Ralph Laich of Mount Prospect; H.H. Van Etten of Deerfield; Barbara Kelly of Schaumburg; Karl R. Plath, superintendent of Highland Park schools; Capt. C. Ray Evans, U.S. Navy liaison; James Lancaster of Elk Grove Village; Henry Johnson of liaison with the U.S. Military Academy; Dr. Julia Hussman of Elk Grove Village; the Rev. Roland Showalter of Libertyville; Jules Traut of Libertyville, liaison with the Merchant Marine Academy; and Mrs. Charles Culmer of Libertyville.

Heart-saving tips for snow shovelers

Dr. Rolf M. Gunnar, president of the Chicago Heart Assn. and its suburban divisions, has issued some suggestions to reduce the risk of heart attack for persons who must shovel snow this winter.

"So often, apparently healthy individuals who do not get adequate exercise throughout the year feel they must shovel snow. This sudden burst of heavy exercise increases their risk of heart attack," Gunnar said.

"The key to performing strenuous activities in cold weather and snow is to move at a slower pace. The heart must work harder to keep normal circulation in cold weather.

"In addition, walking through snow is much more difficult, and cold air makes breathing harder," he said.

Gunnar had the following suggestions for snow shovelers:

- Don't shovel snow immediately after eating.
- Wear several layers of clothing, gloves, a hat and scarf. The scarf should cover the nose and mouth, warming the air taken into the lungs.
- If you have a heart condition, don't shovel snow without your doctor's approval.
- Push rather than lift shovelfuls of snow. Use your entire body not just your arms and back. And remember, wet snow is heavy and shoveling it is strenuous exercise.
- Take frequent breaks and don't be compulsive about finishing the job. If you start to feel tired, quit immediately.

Camp Butler burial area to be enlarged

Plans are being made for the first major expansion of a national cemetery in Illinois, the Veterans Administration said.

Camp Butler National Cemetery in Springfield will be enlarged by 10 acres to provide 7,000 additional burial spaces. The cost will be about $331,000.

Butler National Cemetery was established in 1862 and 848 Confederate soldiers who died at Camp Butler are buried there. Since 1973, about 250 veterans have been buried at the cemetery yearly.

Bulls top Lakers, 89-81; Gilmore outscores Jabbar

Mickey Johnson and Artis Gilmore each scored 22 points to lead the Bulls to a come-from-behind 89-81 victory Tuesday night over the Los Angeles Lakers in the Chicago Stadium.

The Lakers scored the last eight points in the third quarter to build a 70-63 lead. But Chicago came back to outscore the Lakers 11-1 in the first four minutes of the final quarter to take a 74-71 lead.

Norm Van Lier sparked the Bulls in the final quarter when he got 10 of his 12 points. Chicago now has won two straight and is 4-14 for the year.

In the battle between the two centers, Gilmore outscored Kareem Abdul-Jabbar by nine points and caught Abdul-Jabbar with his fifth foul with 3:08 left to play in the third quarter.

The Laker center did not return to action until midway in the final period.

The Lakers were led by Lucius Allen and Cazzie Russell, each with 18 points.

DAVE ROBISCH HIT four free throws in the last 13 seconds to ruin a 42-point, 29 rebound performance by Buffalo's troubled superstar, Bob McAdoo, and carry the Indiana Pacers to a 107-103 victory over the Braves.

Robisch's lefthanded tosses from the 15-foot line, as he got 11 of his 20 points in the final quarter, came after McAdoo four times pushed Buffalo ahead in the closing ten minutes of the game.

But McAdoo, gunning in a personal season high point total as well as a team record in rebounding, missed two free throws with 24 seconds remaining that would have put Buffalo on top.

For the 6-10 center-forward, who ignored his contract dispute with Braves co-owner Paul L. Snyder to collect 13 field goals in 22 tries, it may have well been his last game in a Buffalo uniform. Snyder said he expects to resolve the question of whether McAdoo stays or is traded to the New York Knicks sometime Wednesday morning.

RICE LUCAS SCORED 22 points, Lionel Hollins added 20 and Portland took advantage of poor New York shooting as the Trail Blazers defeated the Knicks 111-94.

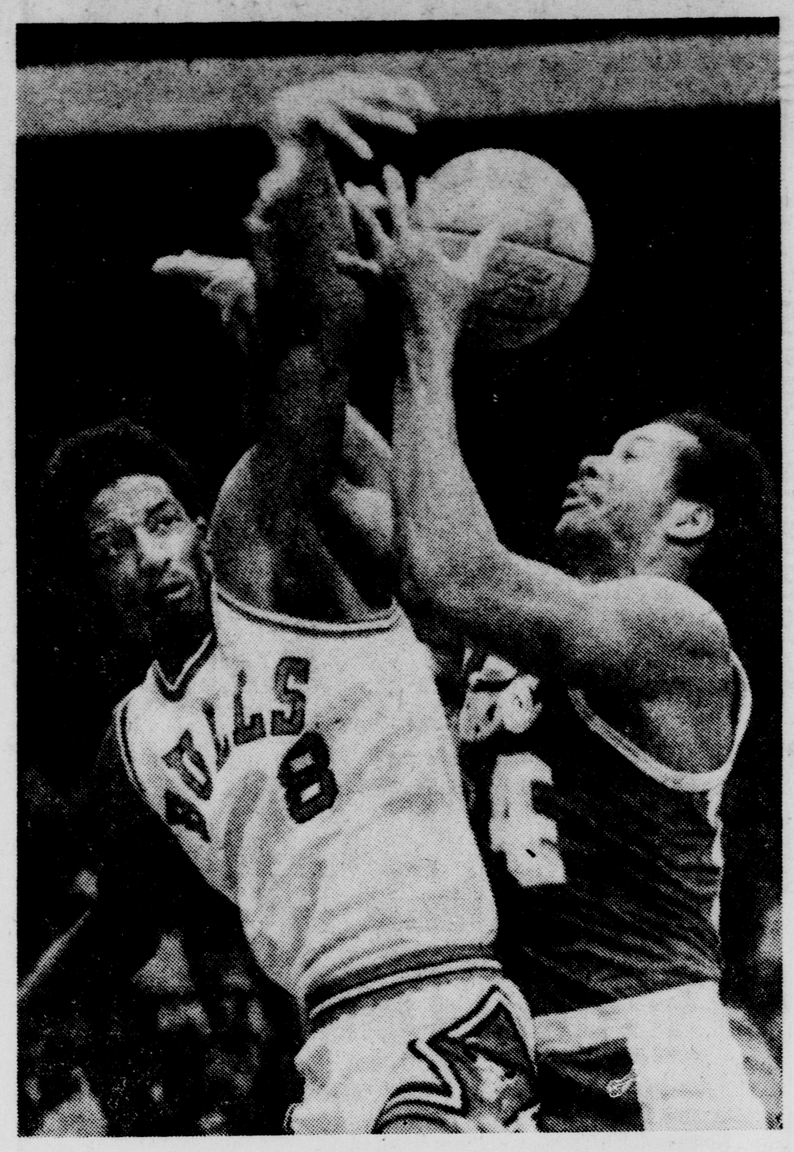
The victory was the fifth straight and the first ever in Madison Square Garden for the Pacific Division leaders.

New York made only 15 of 50 shots from the field in the first half. Spencer Haywood and Earl Monroe each scored 17 for the Knicks, while Lloyd Neal totaled 17 points and Bill Walton 16 points and 15 rebounds for Portland.

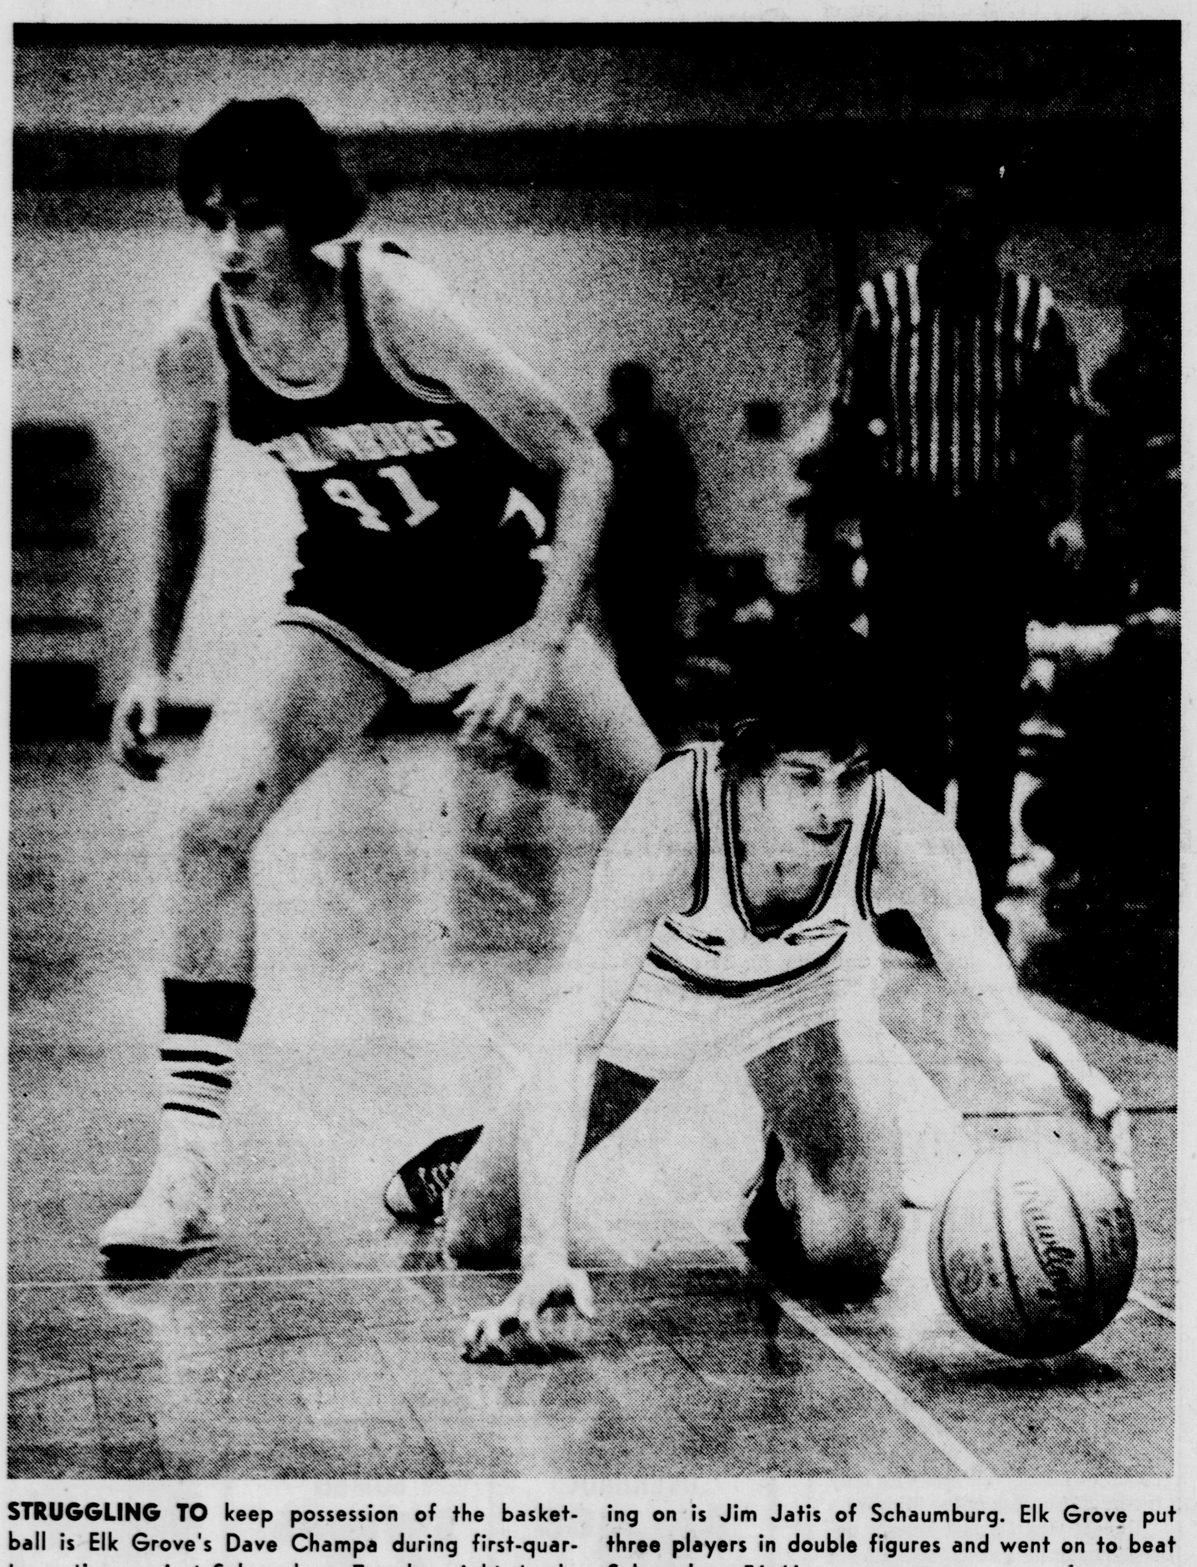
AARON JAMES HIT 18 straight points at the end of the third quarter to lead the New Orleans Jazz to a 110-98 victory over the Seattle Supersoncis.

James, who led all scorers with a career-high 36 points, canned a team record — 12 consecutive field goals — in the third and fourth quarters as the Jazz pulled away. James' surge brought New Orleans from a 58-58 tie with 9:5 left in the third period ot a 76-68 lead at the end of the quarter.

The Jazz outscored the Supersonics 15-4 in the first 4½ minutes of the final period and coasted to the win. New Orleans played for the second straight game without all-pro guard Pete Maravich, the NBA's leading scorer, who sprained an ankle in a game last Saturday.



MICKEY JOHNSON of the Bulls, left, battles the Los Angeles Lakers' Kermit Washington for the basketball in action Tuesday night at the Chicago Stadium. The Bulls turned in an impressive 89-81 victory with Johnson contributing 22 points.



STRUGGLING TO keep possession of the basketball is Elk Grove's Dave Champa during first-quarter action against Schaumburg Tuesday night. Looking on is Jim Jatis of Schaumburg. Elk Grove put three players in double figures and went on to beat Schaumburg 56-46.

Huskies trip up Falcons; Bison win, Wildcats fall

A Herald Staff Report

Hersey's Joe Pusatera put together his best quarter of basketball this year, scoring seven points and dealing zone defense and the inside shooting to salvage a 58-52 win over the Forest View Falcons Tuesday night.

The Huskies (2-4) spent the first three quarters trying to overcome their own mistakes and a Forest View lead that rose as high as 10 points in the second period.

The Falcons (2-4) used a stingy With 5:03 left in the third quarter, of Bob Cameron (19 points) to lead by one after the first quarter and by eight, at 27-19, at the half.

HERSEY STEPPED right back into the fray at the start of the second half as Jim Thomas, who finished with 12 points, and Mark Miesfeldt, who tallied 10, hit baskets to cut the Forest View lead to 27-23.

Shackled with fuls most of the Hersey lost their starting center, 6-7 senior Gary Meyer, with five fouls and, with him, their most potent rebounding weapon.

Shackled with fols most of the game, the irrepressible Meyer still grabbed 11 rebounds and blocked four shots to anchor the Hersey defense before fouling out.

Pusatera hit a basket moments into the fourth period to give Hersey a 43-40 lead but Cameron and Craig Chuipek brought the Falcons back into the lead at 45-43.

Joe Pusatera

Pusatera then went to work, hitting a layup off a steal and following that with a three-point play with 2:22 remaining that hoisted the Huskies into a 50-45 lead.

Moments later Hersey worked a length of the court Thomas-to-Pusatera-to T. R. Frye for a layup. Pusatera capped the night with an assist to Thomas that wrapped up the decision.

Jeff Martinski hit 14 points for the Falcons.

Pusatera finished with 13 points while Frye led the squad with 14.

BISON CLUB LEO

The Buffalo Grove Bison, playing without Brian Allsmiller, blew open a close game in the fourth quarter to win easily over Leo High School Tuesday night, 70-56.

Bison guards Mike Ledna and Scott Groot teamed up to put on the best display of backcourt play this year for Buffalo Grove. Groot scored 18 points and had seven assists while Ledna, who was 14 for 17 from the free throw line, scored 18 points and had five assists.

"We played a lot better tonight, but we still have things to work on," said Bison coach Paul Grady, who was pleased with the performance of Fred Heesch, who scored 10 points and pulled down 12 rebounds.

Up only by one at halftime over Leo, which came into the contest on a three-game winning streak, the Bison moved out to a four point advantage at the end of three quarters.

Led by Fred Kruse and Mike Marshall, who each pumped in six fourth quarter points, the Bison pulled out to a comfortable eight point lead midway through the final period and just kep on going.

Allsmiller, as expected, sat out the contest, nursing shinsplints that have sidelined the Bison veteran.

RACINE DROPS 'CATS

Racine Case jumped on top early and then eased further ahead as the game progressed to post a 71-60 triumph over Wheeling in a non-conference outing on the Wildcat floor Tuesday.

Wheeling rallied in the second period and while trailing by only four points drove for a layup with 1:15 to go that would have put them in sight of the lead.

The layup was missed however, Racine rebounded and converted it into a six-point spread. The 'Cats never got as close again the rest of the evening.

Brian Begrowicz paced the Wheeling attack with 24 points and Jim Lockefeer contributed 15 more. The setback was their team's fifth in six tries overall this season.

Mid-Suburban South

Grens, Hawks share lead

A Herald Staff Report

If you stop John Chmiel, you're going to stop Schaumburg. It's as simple as that.

Elk Grove held the 6-foot-7 Saxon junior to 18 points Tuesday night in Elk Grove, and the Grenadiers went on to defeat the Saxons, 56-46, to maintain a share of first place in the Mid-Suburban South basketball race. The Grens are 2-0.

THREE STARTERS scored in double figures for Elk Grove, including high-point man Mark Smith, who sat out the entire second quarter but finished the night with 15 points. Teammate Mark Evans had 14 points, including 10 free throws in 15 attempts and Gary Mimnaugh added 11 points.

"Our first few games the shooting just wasn't there," said first-year Grenadier coach Ken Grams. "We're beginning to look better offensively. It's good to have somebody take some of the load off Smith."

Grams' main concern, though, was defense. He particularly wanted to keep Chmiel from going wild — as he had done, with 28 points, in the Saxons' opening win at Forest View.

"Chmiel is a helluva player," Grams said. "We basically just tried to sag off inside on him. Our kids did a good job of knowing where Chmiel was at all times."

Chmiel's 18 points came on 8-for-16 from the field, but he never got free underneath the basket. All his points came from outside. Chmiel's average coming into the game was 23.0.

"ELK GROVE DID a good job of keeping the ball away from John," said Schaumburg coach Joe Breault. "They shut him off inside and they shut him off outside."

Elk Grove led almost all the way, jumping out to a 16-12 first-period edge on three baskets by Smith and two by Mimnaugh. Dave Champa's baseline jumper at the start of the second quarter opened up a 19-12 lead.

Baskets by Chmiel and Saxon sophomore Gary Deigan closed the gap to 22-20, but a pair of buckets by Elk Grove's Gary Knapik rebuilt a six-point lead.

A constant full-court press by Elk Grove forced numerous Schaumburg turnovers and was a major factor in the decision.

"Elk Grove plays good defense and our kids were just getting frustrated," said Berault, who played three sophomores a good part of the time.

THE GRENS MADE 20 free throws in 37 tries. It was the margin of victory as both teams hit 18 baskets.

HAWKS SHOE MUSTANGS

Hoffman Estates is developing the bad habit of having to play catch-up basketball — a practice that proves fatal to most clubs, but ironically has been a winning formula for the Hawks.

Head coach Jerry Segebrecht watched his team scramble back from a 15-point deficit against Rolling Meadows Tuesday night to register their first South Division victory of the young season, 65-61.

"We knew we could come from behind because we had done it before against Buffalo Grove," Segebrecht said. "We did it by finally controlling their (Rolling Meadows) running game and running our offense."

THE HAWKS' offense Tuesday night revolved around 5-foot-11 junior guard Doug Oslance who coolly cashed 7-of-10 shots from the floor in the second half en route to a career-high 23 points.

Harper shakes road woes at Kishwaukee

The Harper Hawks followed their usual script Tuesday night, letting the first half slide by before putting the squeeze on Kishwaukee and winning their first road game of the year, 83-77.

The Hawks, with Dan Breen hitting 15 of his 19 points and Jim Arden getting 10 of his 12, heated the bottom of the basket with 66 per cent shooting in the second half to balance their books at 3-3.

Mike Nichol, Harper's 6-4 forward from Cary-Grove, led the Hawks in scoring for the second consecutive game with 30 points and also topped them with eight rebounds.

Kishwaukee worked to a 39-33 intermission advantage as the Hawks found it difficult to cope with 6-5 Ron Hicks, who led them with 29 points, and Todd Erving, who backed those with 22 of his own.

But the fast break began to produce results in the second half and the defensive effort of 6-6 Ron Sulaski slowed the Kishwaukee offense.

Harper will test their road spirit further Friday when they meet Thornton on the Bulldogs floor at 8 p.m.

Maine West captures overtime thriller, 62-60

Bob Anderson popped in a pair of free throws to lift Maine West past Glenbrook North with 48 seconds showing on the clock and the Warriors held on to post a 62-60 overtime Central Suburban League win in the Spartan gym Tuesday.

Anderson's game winner came only after Glenbrook had gambled and lost at the end of regulation play, stalling out the clock for a last-second shot and then missing a desperation 10-footer.

Hot-shooting Spartan forward Jim Borrasso was kept away from the ball during the final 17 frantic seconds in the fourth quarter by Anderson while the rest of the Warrior defense choked the hosts off under the net.

BOB ZUCCARINI canned a pair of free pitches to move Maine into the lead, 59-57, shortly after the overtime began but GBN countertd with one free toss and then a layup by Bob Brodell with 1:46 to go. After Anderson had hit his pair from the line, Mike Wright added another for insurance with 12 seconds remaining.

The visitors appeared to be on their way to victory much earlier in the second half when a rash of Spartan fouls had Maine West making seven trips to the charity stripe. They hit on eight of 11 tries and owned a 44-39 lead as time ran out in the third period.

Borrasso and Bill Chinetti brought Glenbrook back to life in the fourth period. Chinetti dropped in eight straight points at the end of the quarter to hike his team into a 57-56 edge before a free throw by Pete Karabas tied it with 1:05 to go.

THE BALANCED Maine West scoring thrust was headed up by Anderson's 19 point. Karabas kicked in with 15, Zuccarini had 12 and Ken Kunze 11.

Chinetti had 20 for the Spartans with Borrasso adding 15 and Brodell 16.

NORTHWESTERN'S Billy McKinney drives past Notre Dame's Rich Branning in action Tuesday night. The Irish rolled over Northwestern in South Bend, 105-78.

Irish smash NU; Purdue, Duke win

Bill Paterno scored 19 points and guard Don Williams hit for 18 to lead 11th-ranked Notre Dame to an easy 105-78 victory over Northwestern Tuesday night in South Bend.

The Fighting Irish held a slim 10-8 lead in the first five minutes of the game, but then outscored the Wildcats 22-7 in a 10-minute span to take a 32-15 lead. Notre Dame led 50-26 at the half.

Northwestern senior guard Billy McKinney had a game high 25 points, while forward Pete Boesen had 14 and guard Jerry Mariske hit for 10.

Walter Jordan scored 20 points and Purdue overcame a 27-point performance by Indiana State's Larry Bird for an 82-68 victory in West Lafayette.

It was Indiana State's first loss in five games.

Tate Armstrong scored 29 points to lead Duke to an 81-78 upset of 13th-ranked Tennessee and spoiled the return to action of the Vols' sharpshooter Bernard King in Knoxville.

Power play goals lift Washington

Ace Bailey scored Washington's third power play goal of the game with 2:34 left giving the Capitals a 4-3 decision over the Vancouver Canucks in National Hockey League action Tuesday night.

Center Ron Schock scored two goals to lead the Pittsburgh Penguins to a 6-2 National Hockey League victory over the Minnesota North Stars.

Schock, who failed to score since the opening game of the season, broke a 25-game, goalless drought with two goals, 37 seconds apart, midway through the third period.

Clark Gillies and J.P. Parise scored goals less than three aparts early in the third period to give the New York Islanders a 3-2 victory over the St. Louis Blues.

Unhappy fans get cash rebates

NEW YORK — In a highly unusual settlement, the New York Nets have agreed to offer a 10 per cent cash rebate to season ticket holders unhappy about the sale of Julius Erving, it was announced jointly Tuesday by the club and New York Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz.

The Attorney General said that Long Island Sports, a limited partnership which owns the first-year National Basketball Association team, has entered into an agreement with his office to give ticket holders the option of receiving a 10 per cent cash rebate on the price of season tickets purchased, to be paid by next Aug. 31, or a 10 per cent discount toward tickets for next season.

However, under the terms of the arrangement, any subscriber seeking a rebate would have to submit a notarized affidavit asserting, under oath, that he purchased his tickets solely on the basis that Erving would be playing for the Nets, and that he is using the tickets for personal use only and not for business or resale purposes.

Is Jets' coach set for Arkansas?

LITTLE ROCK — New York Jets' Coach Lou Holtz was reported Tuesday to be considering an offer to become head football coach at the University of Arkansas.

Holtz reportedly is scheduled to visit Arkansas next week for an interview with Razorback Athletic Director Frank Broyles, who resigned as head coach last Saturday.

"If Frank announces it this week, you can rule me out," Holtz was quoted by the Arkansas Democrat as saying. "Any decision involving me will not come until after Sunday."

The Democrat quoted sources in Fayetteville and New York as confirming Broyles and Holtz have talked by telephone every day for the last two weeks.

Suits threatened if woman drives

FIELDS, Ore. — Because two Chicago firms feel it would be "unbecoming and degrading for a woman to set a land speed record," California stunt woman Kitty O'Neil has been jerked out of the driver's seat of a car attempting to set such a record on Oregon's Alvord Desert.

Miss O'Neal's husband, Duffy Kambleton, said two Chicago-based sponsors of the tests threatened legal action if the attempts were continued with her in the driver's seat. Hambleton said the firms felt it would be "unbecoming and degrading for a woman to set a land speed rcord."

William Fredrick, developer of the speed trial car, said the suits were threatened by Marvin Glass Toy Co. and Aaron Cushman and Associates, which want Hal Needham to make the record breaking attempts.

Sox, Texas keep talking

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sluggers Jeff Burroughs and Al Oliver were the principal trade targets in the second day of baseball's winter meetings Tuesday, while another heavy hitter, Gary Matthews, figured in a storm of speculation.

Burroughs, he former American League most valuable player who drove in 86 runs for the Texas Rangers last season, was being hotly pursued by both the White Sox and the Atlanta Braves. The White Sox were offering fireballing right-hander Rich Gossage for Burroughs, and the Braves' offer for the 25-year-old outfielder reportedly included catcher Biff Pocoroba and outfielder Ken Henderson.

BUT THE Braves were admittedly stymied in their trade attempts in the wake of baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's warning that the contract of Matthews, whom they acquired from the San Francisco Giants in the recent free agent sweepstakes, was under investigation and might not be approved.

"This whole thing has got us kind of distracted," said Braves General Manager Bill Lucas. "While we think there won't be any serious problems in regard to his (Matthews) contract, we still don't know where we stand."

It was not known when Kuhn might make a decision on the Matthews situation, but at least a half dozen clubs, particularly the Giants, New York Mets and Montreal Expos, were hopeful that the Commissioner would rule the contract void, throwing the power-hitting outfielder up for grabs once again.

MEANWHILE, THE Baltimore Orioles, Milwaukee Brewers and Cleveland Indians were all making overtures to the Pittsburgh Pirates for Oliver, who hit .323 last season and was on his way toward the National League batting title before being sidelined with an inner ear ailment.

"I sure don't want to give up Oliver. He's one of the few pure hitters in baseball," said new Pirates manager Chuck Tanner.

Still, it was known the Pirates were seeking a third baseman to replace Richie Hebner, who played out his option and signed with the Philadelphia Phillies Monday night, and a catcher to take over for Manny Sanguillen who was traded to Oakland for Tanner. And with 24-year-old speedster Omar Moreno apparently ready for a regular outfield berth after hitting .315 with the Pirates' Charleston farm club in the International League last season, the 30-year-old Oliver appeared to be the Pirates most likely trade item.

But aside from leading the Hoffman offensive charge down the stretch, Oslance turned in the game's defensive gem when he stole the ball from the Mustangs with just 11 seconds remaining and fed streaking teammate Doug Brousil with a clinching three-point play with only three seconds left in the game.

"He really shot well and didn't hesitate to put the ball up in the clutch," Segebrecht noted while counting Oslance's 17 second-half points. "But we also got help from our bench in Derek Storm and Don Anderson."

Rolling Meadows sprinted to leads of 38-23 and 40-25 late in the second half behind a scorching fast break that found the Mustangs hitting for seven baskets in the opening three minutes of the game.

KENT WALKER scored 14 of his team-high 22 in the first half for Meadows as the Mustangs roared to a 40-31 cushion at halftime.

But Hoffman rallied around Oslance and Joe Tully's 18 points, even overcoming three technical fouls along the way, to raise its overall record to 4-3.

The loss evened Meadows' South Division record at 1-1 and also leveled its overall mark at 3-3.

PROSPECT NOTCHES 2ND WIN

A man-to-man defense perked up the Prospect Knights in the fourth quarter as they broke open a close game and cruised to a 75-55 South Division victory over the host-Conant Cougars.

"We didn't do a good job," said Prospect coach Bill Slayton, referring to his Knights' zone defense. "When we had a little cushion, we decided to stir something up . . . We moved a lot better. We'd been standing quite a bit."

Prospect went from a 49-43 advantage at the start of the final period to a 57-43 bulge mainly on the shooting of its backcourt men. Jim Apuzzo drilled a couple of 15-foot jumpers and hustling Barry Carlstedt hit a pair of free throws.

THEN PAUL IZBAN got into the offensive act. The muscular junior forward scored the first two points of his 12-point quarter to make it 55-43.

The Cougars, now 0-2 in the MSL and 0-4 overall, rallied behind Rob Totten to cut the margin to 60-50 with three minutes remaining. But Prospect, 1-1 in league play and 2-4 on the season, scored at will down the stretch, mainly on the sharpshooting of Izban.

Izban recorded a varsity career high of 24 points to lead all scorers. Apuzzo and Steve Mather had 12 each with Carlstedt tossing in 10.

Guard Dave Plumb, who scored 21 through three quarters, was held to one basket in the final period by the Prospect defense and finished with 23. Totten, also a guard, scored 15 with all but two coming in the second half.

SLAYTON POINTED TO Conant's strong offensive rebounding as the key reason for the Knights' defensive change. Dave Brumm led the Cougars with 10 rebounds. Sophomore Dave LaCosse gave Prospect a 40-33 board advantage with 11.

A LITTLE OVER five years ago two-time Olympic pole vault gold medal winner, Rev. Bob Richards, gathered his trophies and family together and left California to set up house keeping on this 9,477-acre ranch 100 miles west of Dallas. Richards, shown in front of one of two mansions on the spread, which also includes a 1,500 foot landing strip and six gas wells, says the cost of the ranch is too much and he's willing to sell . . . for $3.5 million.

Blackman to coach Cornell

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Blackman, who left the Ivy League for the challenge of the Big Ten, Tuesday returned as head coach at Cornell.

Blackman, whose Dartmouth teams won six Ivy League titles, left the school six years ago to coach at Illinois but met with only moderate success in the Midwest.

Illinois was 5-6 last season under Blackman and 29-36 in his six years at the school. His overall coaching record is 179 wins, 85 losses and nine ties.

Terms of Blackman's contract were not announced.

Playing the 'word game'

Jim Murray

Newspaper words never mean precisely what they seem to mean. Or, even, say. Ted Weegar, a Times colleague, has sent me a Washington Post story by Richard Cohen who explains what this means to political Washington.

("Back when I was a cub reporter, I interviewed a man mentioned in the newspapers as 'ruddy-faced.' He was a lawyer and we met in his wood-paneled law library. He came in, reeling, shouting oaths, and teaching me on the spot the real meaning of the term 'ruddy-faced.' It means drunk.")

Ted wondered if this phenomenon occurs in the world of sports. Of course. For instance, in sports as well as in politics, when you say a man is "controversial," you simply mean he is apt to tell the truth without provocation. "Self-styled" is always pejorative as in "self-styled world's greatest." It usually means he's a liar.

BUT SPORTS semanticists deal mainly in the "we-they" kind of discrepancy. It depends on whether you are describing "us," the good guys, or "them," the bad guys. For instance:

—Our guy hit a "line drive." Their guy hits a "blooper" or "Texas Leaguer."

—Our guy hits "a shot," or it's "too hot to handle." If their guy hitsit, it's a routine chance the fielder booted.

—On our side, a guy is "colorful." On their side, a "hotdog."

—OUR PITCHER is "overpowering the hitters." If their pitcher does it, we're just in a slump.

—Our team is "resourceful." Theirs is "lucky."

—Our team "capitalizes on the breaks." Their team just happens to be in the right place at the right time.

—Our guy is "a competitor." Theirs is "an animal."

—OUR GUY is a "holler guy, a team leader." Theirs is a loudmouth.

—Our guy is "diplomatic." Theirs is "two-faced."

—Our guys are "trusted associates." Theirs are "henchmen."

—Our team gives rewards. Theirs, bribes.

—OUR SILENCES are "discreet." Theirs are a "coverup."

—Our team plays "spirited" football. Theirs plays dirty.

—Our team is "canny." Theirs cheats.

—Our team is "opportunistic." Theirs gets all the breaks.

—OUR GUYS are team players. Theirs are trophy hunters.

—On our side, it's called "maintaining communication." On theirs, it's dissension.

—Our coach has "long-time aides." Theirs has "cronies."

—When our guys get in trouble, we have "spokesmen." They have "apologists," or "mouthpieces."

—OUR ATTACK is "sophisticated." Theirs is "complex."

—Our coaches take chances. Theirs go off half-cocked.

—Our team plays "good solid football." Theirs plays "dull, conservative football."

—Our guy is "a concerned individual." Theirs is a clubhouse lawyer.

—OUR GUY is "confident." Theirs is an egotist.

—Our team is "a tradition of victory." Theirs is a football factory.

—Our guys "play the hitters." Theirs make "circus catches."

—Our team plays "solid defense." Theirs makes "diving tackles."

ALSO, WE'RE never beat, we're "outmanned" by your "powerhouse."

We're never "outcoached," but we may be "outrecruited."

We're never "outplayed" tee to green, but we "can't buy a putt."

And, oh, yes, our coach is "ruddy-faced."

Weber Kettle bowlers catch fire

by DON CHRISTENSEN

Paddock bowlers enjoyed another hot night while shooting at Hoffman Lanes with Weber hitting a new season high of 3116 and 14 bowlers blasting 600 or better.

Webers' Kettles rolled into contention by ripping games of 1066, 1059, and 991 to win all three matches from Beverly Lanes. Lou Diegel's big 665 led the way for Webers, amply supported by John Surges' 638, Tom Kouris' 633 and Joe Simonis' 606.

By winning 21 of 25 points from Beverly, Wever moved to within 11 points of the lead with two weeks left in the first half. Les Zikes shot a 612 for Beverly Lanes.

ALTHOUGH FORMCO Metal Products lost 14½ points to Uncle Andy's Cow Palace, they took a slim one and one-half point league lead. Uncle Andy's, paced by Roger Hoff's 626 and Greg Gappa's 613 took the first two games with scores of 989 and 971. Formco Metal rallied the last game winning with 973. It was a big win for Bob Kula's team as it enabled them to establish first place.

Jerry Belluzzi's 692 set another season high which helped Mr. Norm's Grand Spaulding Dodge gain a narrow 14 - 11 margin over Dick McFeely Pontiac. Don Murray, subbing for Rich Wagner, bowled a consistent 223, 201, 220 for 644 which Grand Spaulding needed because Dick McFeely's bowlers, Ray Baccus and Randy Aubert, shot 657 and 615, respectfully.

In the remaining match Oost Produce completely dominated Des Plaines Ace Hardware by winning 20½ of 25 points on games of 948, 1028 and 963. Ed Main, John Kartheiser and Rich Moores can share the credit for their team's onslaught, with John shooting 633 and Ed and Rich 628.

THE LEAGUE now moves back to Sim's Bowl in Des Plaines with the following important matches: Oost Produce vs. Beverly Lanes, Weber's Kettles vs. Des Plaines Ace Hardware, Dick McFeely Pontiac vs. Uncle Andy's and Formco Metal Products vs. Grand Spaulding Dodge.

Standing:

Formco Metal Products 204.5, Beverly Lanes 203, Weber's Kettles 193.5, Grand Spaulding Dodge 185.5, Uncle Andy's Cow Palace 174, Oost Produce 156, Des Plaines Ace Hardware 154, Dick McFeely Pontiac 130.

Classic women endure rare night

For only the second time in 13 weeks, the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League was blanked — completely shutout — without a 600 series.

The rare occurrence was recorded at challenging Des Plaines Lanes and came in the noticeable absence of the league's leading bowler Lorrie Nichols who flaunts a 193.7 average.

The top individual effort of the night was the 588 by Petterson Safety's Bobbie Kostelny who sweetened the series with a hefty 222 game.

RIGHT BEHIND, though, was teammate Winnie Lohse who fired rounds of 567 and 219 for runnerup honors. Bette Brelle's 566 for Striking Lanes ranked third.

Despite the one-two punch of Kostelny and Lohse, Petterson Safety was overshadowed by Ziebart Rustproofing's consistency, 5-2.

Peggy Harris and Pat Myslinski each contributed 560's for Ziebart while Joanne Christensen tossed 554-203 and Carol Anderson 534.

While league-leading Petterson was struggling with just two points, second-place Striking Lanes blitzed Mason Shoes, 7-0, to creep within eight points of the top.

BRELLE'S 566 highlighted Striking's surge although Judy Brumond's 530 and a 506 by Eunice Whitmore figured prominently in the sweep. Rita Buge' and Irma Faust shared Mason's scoring honors with 530's.

Ten Pin Bowl dropped its opening game, but rallied to top L-Tran Engineering, 5-2. Ethel Juenger registered 564-203 and teammate sub Connie Staudenmayer notched the top game for the evening with a 231 en route to a 563 series for the winners.

L-Tran was plagued by absentees, but responded behind Isobel Kosi's 558-202 and sub Shirley Schultz' 534 series.

Thunderbird Country Club closed out the scoring with a 5-2 triumph over Tower Cleaners as sub Sally Gerard hit 544 for the winners and Tower was paced by Ruthmary Baurhyte's 546 and Betty Parkhurst's 543.

STANDINGS

Petterson Safety Service 69, Striking Lanes 61, Ten Pin Bowl 57, Ziebart of Des Plaines 56, L-Tran Engineering 55, Mason Shoes 37, Thunderbird Country Club 36 and Tower Cleaners 21.

Bowling tourneys have rich Paddock tradition

Paddock bowling tournaments have become legend in this area, ever since that first tournament for men's leagues at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine in 1952.

The year before, a trio of golfers had persuaded Bob Paddock, Executive Vice President of Paddock Publications, to sponsor a tournament between leading teams of twilight golf leagues in the area for "the grand championship."

The initial golf event was such a success, the same formula was followed that fall in developing intertst in a bowling tournament with the first place team of each league in the area eligible.

THE FIRST en's event was held in Palatine with 18 leagues represented.

The following year, another tourney for women's leagues was developed with the two events moved from one establishment to another. A tournament for mixed leagues was initiated in 1966.

Locations of all the tournaments to date:

MEN'S LEAGUES

1952 - Hi-Way Recreation, Palatine
1953 - Arlington Lanes, Arlington Hts.
1954 - Bensenville Bowl, Bensenville

This year's event will be Jan. 16 at Beverly Lanes for leading teams of men's leagues as of Dec. 11; Jan. 22 at Thunderbird Bowl for leading teams of mixed leagues as of December 18 and Jan. 23 at Thunderbird Bowl for top teams of women's league as of Dec. 18.

Details of the tournaments are available on posters at all local bowling establishments or by calling Tourney Manager at 394-2300.

League secretaries are urged to make time reservations as soon as possible.

Each Christmas the grown-up Clantons created chaos.

They played with the electric trains, the toy trucks, the balls and the bats. You name it.

The Clanton kids were left with nothing.

Last Christmas, Grandma Clanton saved the day. She put EarlyTimes under the tree.

EarlyTimes. In the Clanton clan, it's the gift that separates the men... from the toys.

Drastic shakeup possible

Bowls to decide No. 1

by STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Once again the bowls will decide who's No. 1.

The entire list, in fact, may be in for a drastic shakeup from No. 1 through 20.

All but two of the top 20 teams in the current ratings by UPI's board of coaches are in the bowl line-up between Dec. 18-Jan. 2 and the potential is there for a final shuffle every bit as shocking as a year ago.

AT THAT TIME, Ohio State plunged from No. 1 to No. 4 by losing to UCLA in the Rose Bowl and Arizona State jumped from No. 7 to No. 2 by completing a 12-0 season with a victory over Nebraska in the Fiesta Bowl. West Virginia and Southern California moved into the top 20 with winning bowl efforts while Kansas, Florida, Colorado and Tulsa were bumped from the previous list which included 22 teams, counting ties for 19th place.

At least four teams, maybe five, have a shot at No. 1 this season.

Pittsburgh, No. 1 at the moment and 11-0 going into the upcoming Sugar Bowl game, has been a strong vote-getter throughout the month of November on the basis of its perfect record but needs another victory to stay on top. If Pitt stumbles against No. 4 Georgia on Jan. 1, all sorts of dandy combinations will be confronting the voters in their head-scratching over final rankings.

HEIR-APPARENT WOULD be the Rose Bowl winner between No. 2 Michigan and No. 3 Southern California. Nevertheless, a tie there could drop them both and a listless game might even deglamorize the winner. If Georgia were to score impressively over Pittsburgh, there might be room at the top for the Bulldogs.

Then there's No. 5 Maryland, 11-0. With a better bowl matchup, the Terps might have a good shot at No. 1 but they'll be meeting No. 7 Houston in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1 and Houston has 8-2 heading into its final regular season game against Miami Dec. 4. Maryland could move up but No. 1 is a long shot.

The only top 20 teams missing from year-end competition are Rutgers, tied for 15th with an 11-0 record, and Baylor, tied for 17th.

USING TEAM rankings as a basis for rating the bowls, the Sugar and Rose are tied with a rating of five. Pittsburgh (1) and Georgia (4) add up to five for the Sugar. So do Michigan (2) and Southern California (3) for the Rose. Next comes the Cotton Bowl with a rating of 12 matching Maryland (5) and Houston (7).

The Liberty Bowl rates 21 with UCLA (6) and Alabama (15T), the Orange Bowl is a 22 with Ohio State (10T) and Colorado (12), the Astro-Bluebonnet at Houston rates 27 with Texas Tech (8) and Nebraska (19), followed by the Sun Bowl at 30 with Texas A. and M. (10T) and Florida (20) and the Tangerine at 31 with Oklahoma State (14) and Brigham Young (17T).

The Fiesta and Gator Bowls each have one ranking team - No. 9 Oklahoma vs. Wyoming in the Fiesta and No. 13 Notre Dame vs. Penn State in the Gator. North Carolina and Kentucky, in the Peach Bowl, are unranked.

Most of the matchups are interesting. They'll all be significant in the final ratings compiled after all results are in. That's when the real No. 1 will stand up.

Buying a puppy for Christmas?

Every year at this time we remind those who are planning to get a puppy as a Christmas gift for the family to make sure it "fits."

And when we talk about "fits," we are considering a number of things. For example be sure you have enough area in your apartment, house or yard to accommodate the breed you are considering.

What breed are you considering and will it be a companion, hunter or protector? Some breeds are better suited than others for certain roles.

DECIDE BEFORE the puppy arrives where it will sleep, where it can play and exercise and who will be responsible for feeding him. Mother, on this last subject with the youngsters in school and Dad at work, it will end up being your job for awhile. After the novelty wears off, someone still has to feed the pup, clean up after it and exercise it, if necessary. Mother, you had better set up some ground rules for care when the family is home.

Be sure that family members do not mistreat the new puppy by "over-loving" it. Young children may unknowingly injure a pup by too much handling.

Above all, make sure the new puppy is brought into the home a few days before Christmas. He has to become accustomed to his new surroundings before the big day.

Remember also that good health depends on proper diet, medical attention and correct treatment and handling. If you have never availed yourself of the service of a veterinarian, have one picked out before you have to go to him. Don't wait until an emergency arrives and try to find one. You may need help fast and every minute may count.

ALSO PLAN to have your veterinarian give the puppy regular medical checkups. He can also advise you on planning a properly balanced diet.

Obedience open to all —

People often ask if a physically handicapped person can train a dog to compete in the obedience ring. The answer is a most definite yes!

The basic requirement is that the handler can move about the ring without physical assistance or guidance from another person, except for guidance from the judge or from the handler of a competing dog in the ring for the group exercises.

Matter of fact, two people from the area served by this paper have been entered in obedience classes and handle their dogs from wheelchairs.

Clean in winter —

A bath isn't needed or advisable for the family dog during the winter months, especially if he is in an outdoor kennel. Daily grooming after taking the dog for a brisk walk can work wonders for a dog's coat.

Most house pets tend to shed during the winter when the heat is on, so a quick rubdown and brushing will help minimize the amount of hair deposited on clothing, furniture and rugs.

Barks and Bays —

Because it is the Christmas season, here is a question that relates to the holidays. You will have to really dig for the answer. What breed of dog did President and Mrs. Hoover have on their 1932 personal Christmas cards?

Rolling Meadows to host tournament

Rolling Meadows will hold its annual Holly Bowl Volleyball Tournament Thursday, Dec. 9.

Along with the hosting Mustangs will be Steinmetz, Naperville Central and Willowbrook.

Meadows will open the day's play against Steinmetz at 10 a.m. Naperville will take on Willowbrook at 11 a.m.

The losers will play for third place at noon with the winners to battle for the first-place trophy at 1 p.m.

Hersey hosts frosh cage tourney

Maine South will be back to defend their title in the Hersey High School Freshman Basketball Invitational Dec. 14-15 and Dec. 20-21.

A field of eight teams, including four from the Mid-Suburban League, will battle for trophies in the single elimination event.

The pairings for the first round are as follows: Dec. 14 — 7 p.m., Barrington vs. Schaumburg; Dec. 14 — 8:30 p.m., Mundelein vs. Hersey; Dec. 15 — 7 p.m., Elk Grove vs. Deerfield; Dec. 15 — 8:30 p.m. Prospect vs. Maine South.

The two semifinal games will be played at 7 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. on Dec. 20. The third place showdown will be at 7 p.m. Dec. 21 with the championship game to follow at 8:30 p.m.

Prices for admission to the tournament are $1.00 for adults and $.50 for students.
